Stalin's Hope: UNO to Bring World Peace

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, March 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin today affirmed his confidence in the United Nations Organization as an instrument for preserving peace and security in the world. Stalin said "I am convinced that neither the nations nor their armies are striving for a new war."

U. S. Reaction To Stalin's Peace Views

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—Stalin's statements on preservation of the peace in an interview with AP Correspondent Eddy Gilmore at Moscow were generally hailed with hope by members of Congress today.

Chairman Connally (D.) of Texas of the Senate foreign relations committee asserted:

"I am highly gratified at the statement of Prime Minister Stalin."

"The views expressed are in entire harmony with the purposes of the United Nations Organization."

"I am glad to note that he renounces any militaristic ambitions. The UNO is our best hope for peace, and if the Soviet Union will support it and co-operate with other peace-loving nations we may hope for a long period of peace and international concord."

Said Chairman Bloom (D.) of New York, House foreign affairs committee:

"Stalin's words are reassuring. We'll never have war if Russia and all the nations follow the advice given. We all ought to hold special services and pray that Stalin will always remember and heed the answers he gave Mr. Gilmore."

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts expressed the view the international situation is "too delicate" for hasty comment on major issues, and reserved a statement.

Chairman Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts of the Senate naval committee said Stalin's statement that nations are not striving toward war "should put an end to all rumors of war in the immediate future."

Off Limits

YOKOHAMA, March 22 (INS)—Lt. Gen. Eichelberger decreed the guard house today for any American soldier found walking in public with his arm around a Japanese girl.

The U. S. Eighth Army commander said his order did not mean non-fraternization.

HELD IN EXTORTION PLOT—Trapped by the FBI, Mrs. Dorothy Johnson (above) of Westbury, R. I., is being held in $10000 bail, after it was revealed she allegedly had attempted to extort $5000 from Mrs. Natalie Brown, Newport, R. I., society matron, with threats of doing bodily harm to her three grandchildren. Mrs. Johnson is the mother of a 4-year-old child.

U. S. Atomic Spy Probe Arrests Near

WASHINGTON, March 22 (INS)—Ernie Adamson, chief counsel for the House Committee on un-American Activities, disclosed today investigation of an alleged atomic bomb foreign spy ring is nearing completion.

Adamson, just returned from the atomic bomb plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., said:

"I think we'll have our case pretty well sewed up in the next few days."

The counsel revealed the committee has voted to hold closed hearings in Knoxville, Tenn. (near the ridge), Chicago, New York, and Atlanta. They will get under way, he added, within a month.

About 30 to 40 witnesses are being lined up, Adamson revealed, and subpoenas are being prepared for about 15.

He said these witnesses would include scientists connected with the government atomic project, including employees at Oak Ridge and at laboratories of the University of Chicago.

Adamson was asked:

"Do you think these hearings will lead to arrests?"

He replied:

"I wouldn't be at all surprised to anticipate that you will see action after the hearings are completed."

"They want peace and are striving for a guarantee of peace."

The Russian leader's assertions came in a written reply to three questions put to him by the Associated Press March 19. His reply was dated March 22. The full text was broadcast by the Moscow radio today.

The letter to Stalin began:

"In view of the many questions being asked in various parts of the world and the anxiety being expressed over keeping the peace, May I respectfully address several questions to you?"

QUESTION—"What importance do you attach to the United Nations Organization as a means of preserving world peace?"

STALIN'S ANSWER—"I attach great importance to the United Nations Organization, as it is a serious instrument for preservation of peace and international security. The strength of this organization, consists in that it is based on the principle of equality of states and not on the principle of the domination of one state over others."

"If the United Nations Organization succeeds in preserving in the future this principle of equality it will unquestionably play a great positive role in guaranteeing universal peace and security."

QUESTION—"What in your opinion is responsible for the current fear of war felt by many peoples in many lands?"

ANSWER—"I am convinced that neither nations nor their armies are seeking another war. They desire peace and are endeavoring to secure peace. This means that 'the current fear of war' is not being caused by this side. I think that the 'present fear of war' is being brought about by actions of certain political groups engaged in the propaganda of a new war and by these means sowing seeds of discord and uncertainty."

QUESTION—"What should the governments of the freedom-loving countries do at the present time to preserve the peace and tranquility of the world?"

ANSWER—"It is necessary for public opinion and the ruling circles of all states to organize a wide counter-propaganda against these advocates of a new war and to secure the peace so that not a single action on the part of advocates of new wars passes without due rebuttal on the part of the public and press. To expose warmongers without loss of time and give them no opportunity of abusing freedom of speech against the interests of peace."

Stalin Scoops AP Reporter

By the Associated Press AP Correspondent Eddy Gilmore was scooped today on his own story.

Gilmore's exchange of questions and answers with Prime Minister Stalin was broadcast by the Moscow radio before Gilmore could get his own story to Associated Press newspapers.

The news was broadcast from Moscow by the government radio shortly after 11 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, and recorded in London.

FIRST MEETING SINCE BATAAN—Two South Boston heroes—Sgt. Joseph A. Horan and Maj. John L. Curran—met for the first time today since the horror-filled days on Bataan on the steps of the Boston Evening American building. Both men were prisoners of the Japanese. Horan, while in the infamous "death march," carried Lt. William Galos of Lexington for 17 days to save him from death at the hands of the Japs.

Paroled Over Foley's Protest

Bernard L. Gale, Brighton, pardoned by the Governor and council Wednesday after serving less than 18 months of a four-to-seven-year State Prison term, was disclosed today to have been recommended unanimously for release by the State parole board despite the opposition of Dist. Atty. Foley.

Gale, a former real estate man, entered State prison Dec. 9, 1944, to serve his four to seven-year sentence after the Supreme Court denied his appeal from the term imposed by Judge Brogna in Suffolk Superior Court.

He had been found guilty by a jury on an indictment charging he had wilfully and falsely testified in a civil case.

In outlining the case to the parole board, when Gale's petition was being considered, Dist. Atty. Foley concluded with the statement:

"I am opposed to this defendant being entitled to buy his way out of State prison by the payment of $7000."

Foley was referring to restitution money which his superior court trial disclosed he owed to the estate of the late Joseph Geffen of New York.

Two Held in Theft From Cleaning Plant

Two Boston men were arraigned in East Cambridge court today on charges of stealing clothing from the Model Plant, Inc., Main st., Cambridge, a cleaning establishment where they were employed. They were Burnan Baker, 26, and Earle Kane, 24, both of Columbus ave., South End.

Inspector Edward Glennon of the Cambridge police said Baker and Kane were seen emerging from a rear door of the plant, each wearing three suit coats and an extra pair of plants. Judge Arthur P. Stone ordered the pair held in $1000 each.

Tiniest Baby Flown Here To Save Life

By DON MacPHAIL and TOM RILEY

Only 17 hours after she was born with an imperfect windpipe which prevents breathing, and disconnected internal organs which make it impossible for her to eat, a blonde blue-eyed girl was flown here from Washington, D. C., early today in a specially-equipped Army transport for a delicate operation at Children's Hospital.

On the dramatic mercy flight, the baby was kept alive with oxygen and by an Army doctor and Army nurse who orally syphoned potentially fatal mucous from her tiny throat.

The infant was fed by subcutaneous injection just before leaving Bolling Field at 3:15 a. m., and immediately on her arrival at the hospital here at 4:04 a. m.

Youngest patient ever admitted to Children's Hospital, the infant is registered only as Baby Girl Perkins.

Her condition was reported as "fair" by hospital authorities, while doctors spent several hours in consultation preparatory to an emergency operation by Dr. Robert Gross, noted baby surgeon, who had been contacted by Gen. Norman F. Kink, surgeon-general at Walter Reed Hospital, before she was flown here.

The daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Gordon Perkins of Alexandria, Va., she was born at 8 a. m. yesterday at Walter Reed Hospital. Both her parents are patients at Walter Reed; her mother, Eleanor, 22, in the maternity ward, and her 24-year-old father in an iron lung as the result of

Plot to Kill Bishop Fails

VATICAN CITY, March 22 (AP)—Osservatore Romano reported today that unknown persons had attempted to kill the apostolic administrator of Novara, Bishop Ossola.

Novara is one of the leading cities of the industrial Piedmont region. The report said a bomb was placed on stairs leading to the bishop's apartment in the episcopal palace at Novara and was found by seminarians shortly after noon when the bishop returned for lunch.

The bishop was warned. The bomb exploded, damaging the staircase but inflicting no injuries.

Old fire box 52, from which the first alarm of the great Boston fire of 1872 was sounded, was knocked from its base today by a truck making too sharp a turn at Summer and Lincoln sts.

As Boston fire boxes have a special collapsible construction in anticipation of such mishaps, the mechanism of the box itself was not damaged and in a short time repairs were completed.

In fact, box 1431, present listing of the historic box, was sounded during the afternoon to prove it was in good condition.

When the box sounded 52 on Nov. 9, 1872, a hoopskirt factory blaze developed into a two-day, $75,000,000 conflagration.

N. Y. Greets 903 Brides, Babies

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Bringing 903 war brides and children bound for every State except North Dakota, the motorship Vulcania docked here today.

Massachusetts was to receive about 50 of the new arrivals.

The Vulcania took aboard 536 wives and 37 children at Le Havre, 292 wives and 38 children at Southampton.

Herbert Stein, 28, New York, a shortstop for the Chattanooga Lookouts of the Southern Baseball Ass'n, was at the pier to meet his wife, the former Marie Jose Goffin of Mons, Belgium.

Stein planned to take her with him back to training camp at Cocoa, Fla.

She was lifted off the Illinois Central's Chickasaw Limited, which made a special midnight stop for her at Kialto, Tenn., by John W. McNamara, conductor, who first learned of her plight when he stopped his train in front of her house nearly a year ago.

Excited and fatigued by events of the last few days, including hurried preparations for the trip, interviews, radio broadcasts and her first train ride, Minnie Rose tried hard to smile as photographers' flash bulbs exploded in front of her. Then she began crying, pleading "I want my mommy."

Her mother, Mrs. Jake Webb, who accompanied her, and William H. Woodfield, Jr., of San Francisco, imperial potentate of the Shrine of North America, placed her on a stretcher for the trip to the Shriners' Hospital.

Minnie Rose was wearing a large corsage of roses over her yellow jacket and blue checked dress, the gift of the Shrine Club of Tipton County, Tenn. She was showered with candy, flowers and fruit at each stop as the train moved northward.

Minnie Rose has been paralyzed since injection of spinal anesthesia for an appendectomy three years ago and is able to move about only in a wheel chair.

Gold Star Mother's Life Threatened in Cab Row

Bravely defying a telephone threat to "quit that job if you value your life," a Cambridge Gold Star mother announced her intention today of sticking to her post as telephone operator of a newly-formed Cambridge taxicab company composed exclusively of veterans.

Mrs. Mary Kenney, 40, of Third st., East Cambridge, was visibly shaken, but determined not to give up when she reported the death threat to police. Her son, Francis, was killed while on Navy duty in the Pacific last year. Another son, George, also a Navy man, is now in the Pacific.

Special investigators were assigned to the case when Frank W. Coffill of Inman st., president of the Veterans' Taxi Ass'n, Mrs. Kenney's employer, told police five threats against the veteran cab drivers have been made within a week. All the threats were made by telephone.

"Close up shop or we'll smash in your office windows and maul everybody," he quoted the callers. He added his firm receives an average of 12 bogus calls a night, sending drivers on wild goose chases.

Announcing her intention to stick to her post, Mrs. Kenney said:

"I need the money and I know my sons wouldn't want me to quit in the face of a threat by a person not brave enough to show himself."

Brookline Blaze Fells 4 Firemen

Four firemen were injured, one of them seriously, today in a three-alarm blaze which swept a block of shops in Harvard st., Brookline.

Heavy smoke hampered firemen who battled the blaze using gas masks and working in relays. The fight lasted for five hours.

One of a series of hot air explosions felled Michael Hughes, Norman Rose, George Knowles and John Morison, all of whom were pulled from the building by their mates.

Morison suffered serious burns and was taken to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. The others were revived and sent home.

Patrolman Thomas Parkes discovered the fire shortly after day-break when he saw smoke coming from a letterbox slot at the Lee women's shop.

On arrival of Dept. Fire Chief Thomas Malloy it was discovered that flames were raging in both the Lee shop and the adjoining Vee shop, also a women's specialty shop. Two more alarms were sounded. Damage also was caused in the Ida K. bag shop and Rosebud child's shop.

Elevated buses running from Allston terminal to Dudley st. were re-routed from Harvard st., through Shaler st. to Center st., and back to Harvard st.

35 Autos Saved In Cambridge Fire

Flames roared through the Miller and Sedon refrigerator shop in the rear of 2067-73 Massachusetts ave., North Cambridge today, injuring one fireman and causing damage estimated at $15,000.

The blaze started from a tarp pot outside. Saved were 35 automobiles on the third floor of the North Cambridge storage warehouse. The second floor is occupied by Harry Sussman for storage.

Fireman Patrick Russell, aide to Fire Chief Herman E. Gutheim, was badly cut on both hands. He was taken home after treatment.

The building is owned by Joseph Hughes, operator of a nearby mortuary.

Senate Group Raps War Surplus Loss Overseas

By FRANK B. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, March 22 (INS)—The Senate war investigating committee disclosed in a blistering report today that American taxpayers will realize little from the sale of $27,500,000,000 overseas war surpluses. The committee blamed vacillating policies of American government agencies and "onerous restrictions by governments of countries we had aided in preserving their very existence."

Basing its conclusions on four investigating trips abroad by subcommittees, the committee said: "The ultimate return to our government from sales of surplus abroad is likely to be a comparatively small fraction of its cost to United States taxpayers."

As of Jan. 1, inventories totaled nearly $24,000,000,000 and $3,500,000,000 additional had been declared surplus.

Specifically criticized for failure to make deals abroad or get needed civilian goods home promptly were the Army, Navy, State Department and Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

The report hit at the gratitude of America's Allies by calling the bulk sale of goods to Britain a poor bargain, and saying that settlement of unconsumed lend-lease called on the United Kingdom "to do no more than it ought to be willing to do anyway." The committee added:

"When we seek to dispose of surpluses sent abroad for the defense of our allies, our government is faced with restrictions and conditions imposed by countries we had aided in preserving their very existence."

The report issued by Sen. Mead (D.) of New York, chairman, declares that "now, half a year after the end of hostilities, we are just beginning to establish procedures for returning property needed for speedy reconversion of our civilian economy. The demand for it is not as great as it was six months ago."

Branded Dutch Mother, Ex-PW, Arrives in Hub

Still bearing the tattoo brand of her race and prison number at the infamous German concentration camp at Oswiecim, Poland, where her husband died of torture, a young Dutch mother arrived in Boston today by ship from Rotterdam.

Mrs. Daisy Bamberger, 30, accompanied by her 9-year-old son, Harry, was one of 16 passengers aboard the Liberty ship James A. Drain, which docked at Pier 4, East Boston.

She said when the Nazis overwhelmed the Low Countries she, her husband and hundreds of other Jews were seized. Friends hid their little son, but the Bamberger couple were taken with a horde of prisoners from Amsterdam to Germany and eventually to Oswiecim. She was there 18 months.

Only two days old when Niven left England to resume his film career in America after six years of British military service.

With typical fatherly worry, he was concerned whether Jamie would like the rattle and whether he could use his teething ring. "Will he have teeth?" he asked. "Is that the sort of thing to give him at his age?"

The Nivens were married during a battle-of-Britain courtship. Mrs. Niven was a former WAAF officer.

From Portland, they went to Salem, Mass., to visit friends.

They will leave for Hollywood next week where Niven's next picture, "The Bishop's Wife," will be started May 8.

Guardhouse Cruelty Charged To U. S. Colonel

LONDON, March 22 (AP)—U. S. Army Headquarters in London said today charges of conspiracy "to inflict cruel, unusual and unauthorized punishment" on guardhouse prisoners had been brought against Col. James A. Kilian, Highland Park, Ill., former commander of the 10th Reinforcement Depot at Lichfield, and five other officers.

Maj. Richard D. Kearney, staff judge advocate for the London area, said the charges, preferred "for investigation under the 70th article of war," also included separate counts of misfeasance and malfeasance.

Kilian and others of the five charged today appeared as witnesses earlier this year at the court-martial of 10 enlisted men and two officers accused of mistreating Lichfield prisoners.

Others charged were: Maj. Richard E. Lobbano, Pittsburgh, former provost marshal at the depot.

Maj. Herbert W. Bluhm, former depot inspecting officer.

Capt. Joseph A. Robertson, former commanding officer of the 316th Reinforcement Co., which supplied personnel for operation of the depot guardhouse.

First Lt. Granville Cubage, Oklahoma City, formerly a prison officer at the depot.

First Lt. Leonard W. Ennis, Peekskill, N. Y., also a former prison officer at the depot.

Hess Takes 'Full Responsibility'

NUERNBERG, March 22 (INS)—Rudolf Hess, like Hermann Goering before him, today assumed full responsibility for all acts committed by him or his subordinates while he held power under Hitler.

Defense of Hitler's former deputy opened at the war crimes trial after Goering stepped down from the stand at the end of nine days of testimony.

Hess claimed again, through his attorney, his only purpose in making the spectacular flight to England early in the war was to avoid "further bloodshed."

Testifies Red Spies Working in Canada

MONTREAL, March 22 (AP)—Igor Gouzenko, former cipher clerk in the Russian embassy at Ottawa, testified today members of the Soviet Security Police are operating in Canada.

He appeared at a preliminary hearing for Fred A. Rose, first Communist member of the Canadian Parliament, who is accused in the Canadian espionage case.

Gouzenko was asked by Prosecutor F. Philippe Brais if some of the police were in the Russian embassy at Ottawa, and he replied:

"I understand yes."

Gouzenko said he flew to Canada with Col. Zabolot, Russian military attaché who was recalled to Moscow last December, and Col. Ramonov. Their purpose, he said, was to organize the staff of the military attaché at Ottawa. Asked the purpose of the office, Gouzenko said:

"Some work was official and some was unofficial."

"What do you mean by unofficial?" asked the prosecutor.

"There was a center of the Soviet intelligence system in Canada—a system to obtain information through agents which would be valuable to the Soviet government."

"Valuable information is often secret. If a man is willing to give information to the military attaché staff, he is an agent for that purpose."

Girl Attack Victim Still in Critical Condition

JOLIET, Ill., March 22 (AP)—Prosecutor James E. Burke today delayed serving a warrant charging assault with intent to kill against James F. Lincoln, Jr., 30, in the hammer beating and shooting of a 9-year-old farm girl, pending outcome of the child's condition.

At the Silver Cross Hospital, the physician attending the Williams girl, who suffered a fractured skull by hammer blows and was shot six times as she fled from Lincoln's car, said it would be at least a week before he would give any prediction of her recovery. He reported her condition as "critical."

The elder Lincoln, president of the Lincoln Electric Co. of Cleveland, accompanied by Atty. Lloyd Heth of Chicago, met his son yesterday in the state's attorney's office. Later he said he was ready to fight the charge "all the way."

He said his son's skull was fractured in an automobile accident 10 years ago and "there is not the slightest doubt this event is directly traceable to that injury."

APPEALS IN HAM THEFT

John H. Bohannon, 46, of Center st., West Roxbury, pleaded guilty in municipal court today to larceny of an 18-pound ham from a Blackstone st. market and appealed a four-month sentence meted by Judge Elijah Adlow.

walkout was caused by their desire for a longer lunch period, both School Committee Chairman Norton and School Supt. Gould expressed the opinion this was not the paramount issue and planned a complete investigation of complaints by the children, mostly of Italian extraction, of racial prejudice.

Shortly after the children left the school, Louis F. Bruno, 14, Prince st., North End, a ninth-grade pupil, was found in the basement, where he had collapsed. Before being taken to City Hospital, he told Sgt. Frank Gannon he had hurt himself running into a wall while playing.

Later at the hospital he changed his story and said he was beaten by classmates yesterday afternoon when he refused to join the strike. He was released after treatment at the hospital and police began an investigation of his story although he refused to name the classmates.

The students' agreement to return was gained at a meeting in the school hall, which they had been prevailed upon to attend after refusing to enter their classrooms for the start of the morning session.

During the meeting the name of Miss Edith Platt, a seventh grade teacher, was brought up as one who had made "nasty remarks" of a racial nature when the pupils went on strike yesterday.

"Never in my career have I ever injected a racial issue into my school teaching," she declared today after a conference with school officials. She showed her classroom, decorated with pictures of leaders of all races and religions.

"I'll deny that vehemently," she said. "It's my personal opinion the children brought the matter in to gain the sympathy of their parents with their strike. They knew that would cause their parents to side with them."

Supt. Gould said the records showed Miss Gould was an outstanding teacher of unusual ability who had never taught in any other school during her 10-year career.

He said she would be present Monday with members of a grievance committee of the pupils to confer with Miss Katharine McDonnell, asst. supt. of schools.

Supt. Gould told the children he, too, felt the issue went deeper than their demand for a longer lunch period and promised them a thorough investigation of information he had received from City Councilor Joseph Russo, although he did not elaborate on what this information was.

At this point, Joseph "Blackie" Lamattina, chairman of the pupils' grievance committee, stood up and brought up the racial matter, saying:

"Before we go back we want an apology from Miss Platt for the nasty remarks she made to us yesterday afternoon."

Norton told them that their school lunch period would be increased 10 minutes but that their school hours would remain from 8:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

"We want 8 to 1," several children shouted from the audience.

B. & M. Repair Men to Quit

GREENFIELD, March 22 (AP)

—Mechanical employees at the East Deerfield repair shop of the Boston & Maine Railroad said today they had been directed to quit work at 7 a. m. tomorrow in a system-wide protest over alleged contract violations involving foremen's hours of work.

Boy Saves Lives Of Mother, Sisters

Tragedy was averted last night by a Dorchester boy, who found his mother and two young sisters unconscious from gas fumes and raced several blocks to summon Dr. Carleton E. Allard of Columbia rd., in the belief they were dead.

Dr. Allard applied artificial respiration while the boy, James St. Aubin, 16, called police and fire department rescue squads.

Today the victims, Mrs. Margaret St. Aubin, 34, and daughters Margaret, 12, and Robina, 14, were reported out of danger.

Newton Ex-WAC Sues To Regain Apartment

Miss Helen Nute, Newton High School teacher and ex-WAC, brought a judgment proceeding in Newton court today against a couple who, she says, refuse to give up an apartment she sublet when she entered service.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell F. Baker of Clifton st., Newtonville, claim they are legal tenants and pay regular rent to the owner, Baker is also an Army veteran.

Judge Donald E. Mayberry took the case under advisement.

benefit of the males in the audience, it should be explained that a controversy is raging over whether women should return to short hair.)

"Long hair is more exciting, more sex-citing," said Brown, who is here to create poster art for "Claudia and David." "This short feathercut bob is nothing but a plot."

Brown said he appreciates long hair not only as an artist, but also as an average male.

"Cutting women's hair is Samson and Delilah in reverse," he said. "The secret of Samson's strength was in his long hair, and that applies to women, too. Their strength and beauty lies in their long hair as well."

Brown, who wears his hair short and neatly parted, even ventured a list of the outstanding long-hairs in Hollywood—Gene Tierney, Joan Blondell, Paulette Goddard and Lauren Bacall. All were models for Brown, except Bacall. "She was too lanky."

Boy Throat Victim Improves

After being escorted by relays of State, Quincy and Boston police from Hyannis to Children's Hospital today, 4-year-old John Wilson, Jr., was reported as much improved after being in danger of suffocation from a rare type of asthma.

Dr. Carlyle Fiske, hospital throat specialist, said the child's ailment might have been very serious if he had not obtained proper medical treatment.

Grasshopper Hop

MOSCOW, March 22 (AP)—A Soviet air expedition takes off today to combat grasshoppers in 148,000 acres of northern Iran.

The Iranian government had requested aid as the grasshoppers were said to be destroying enormous plots of planted fields.

Blind Man Kills Mother-in-Law

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 22 (AP)—O. T. Guthrie, 42, blind second-hand store proprietor, fatally shot his former mother-in-law while his divorced wife, also blind, stood helplessly by, then called the police station to report the shooting. Asst. County Atty. George Lipe said today Guthrie is being held without charge in the city jail.

Lipe said Guthrie told him and Coroner Evert Crismore he blamed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds, 60, for his marital troubles, which recently ended in divorce, and that he had gone to his former wife's home to get $800 he said she owed him for opening a soft drink stand for her in the State Capitol Building. The couple was married a year ago.

"My mother-in-law was sitting beside the divan I was on," Lipe quoted Guthrie as saying. "I guess I flew into a fit. I wheeled around until the pistol touched her and fired." Mrs. Hinds died instantly.

Mrs. Guthrie, who still operates the Capitol soft drink stand, gave a similar account of the shooting. Lipe said, quoting her as saying: "He told mother she had interfered in our marriage, but mother insisted she had done nothing. I heard a shot in the room and I ran to where mother was. I could feel blood on her shoulder. I screamed and ran out the door."

Guthrie was arrested at the home after he called police.

Hike in Dues On CIO Agenda

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 22 (AP)—Union politics and dues commanded the attention today of the CIO United Auto Workers' Union on the eve of its 10th convention.

On one hand was the potential battle between R. J. Thomas and Walter P. Reuther for the union presidency—with Thomas, incumbent since 1938, bluntly inviting Reuther, UAW vice-president, to enter the contest.

At the same time a proposal to double the membership dues from $1 a month to $2 formally was placed before the Auto Union by its veteran secretary-treasurer, George F. Ades.

Peabody Girl Gets Movie Bid

Mary Bezemes, 23, of Forest st., Peabody, nationally known baton twirler, has high-stepped her way into Hollywood and the movies, and will soon be seen leading a band in a Universal picture in which Phil Terry ex-husband of Joan Crawford, and Ann Savage will be starred, it was announced today.

Top drum majorette of New England, and winner of several national American Legion convention awards, she's been selected as one of three national title holders to take part in the film.

Mary was graduated from Peabody High School, class of 1940, where Claude H. Phillips was her instructor in band-leading. During the war she toured this country and Europe with the USO.

How F. D. R. Wangled Jap War

By JOHN T. FLYNN, Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers
WASHINGTON, March 22—In the two weeks before Pearl Harbor, President Roosevelt, instead of working to avert the coming blow, was working to hasten it and was busy with one big problem—how he could maneuver the Japanese into making an attack on us. His Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson, made this admission in a 58-page statement filed by him with the Pearl Harbor committee.

Those who made this charge against Mr. Roosevelt before the congressional investigating committee were bitterly denounced. But now a member of his own cabinet comes forward with the surprising confirmation of it.

The statement covers a great deal of ground, but the portion which takes us behind the White House scenes on the eve of the war is one of the two or three most important revelations of the whole investigation.

The President had promised he would not take American boys into foreign wars UNLESS THEY WERE ATTACKED. It was clear to him the Japanese were not going to attack us either, because he called a meeting of his cabinet that day and took a poll on a very vital question.

He asked them if they thought the people would back him up if he attacked the Japanese in case they jumped on the British in Malay or the Dutch in the Indies without attacking us.

The cabinet was unanimous that the people would back him up as the attacker.

Then things drifted for about three weeks.

At the cabinet meeting following, Roosevelt described the crisis. HE TOLD HIS CABINET

MEMBERS THAT THE PROBLEM WAS 'HOW TO MANEUVER THE JAPANESE INTO FIRING THE FIRST SHOT WITHOUT TOO MUCH DAMAGE TO US.'

Next day, Nov. 26, against the advice of Army and Navy chiefs who warned they were not ready, Hull sent his ultimatum—and Stimson is clear that this was an ultimatum.

Thus the proof is now complete. It turned out as planned—all but one thing.

It did bring us "too much damage."

It cost us a great fleet. It cost us 4000 men killed and wounded in two hours.

It cost us the temporary loss of the whole Southwest Pacific, and hundreds of thousands of casualties to recover it.

It terrified the man who had managed the maneuver.

That is why he ordered the blackout on all news.

That is why the whole dreadful story was suppressed and, in order to conceal his guilt, why he chose Kimmel and Short as scapegoats, branded them for the disaster without a trial, and refused them even a hearing until Congress forced an investigation four years later.

Lodge Papers In City Hall

Nomination papers for Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., for the Republican nomination for United States Senator were circulated in City Hall today by Councilor James C. Bayley, Jr., of Back Bay.

Bayley, president of the Council of Young Men's Republican Clubs of Massachusetts, said he had been asked to handle circulation of the papers in Suffolk County by a close friend of Lodge, who resigned from his Senate post to enter the Army during the war.

He said friends were circulating the papers to have them ready in the event Lodge decided to run. He stressed the fact that work is being done by friends and the Republican state committee has nothing to do with it.

MAN LOSES 5 FINGERS

SPRINGFIELD, March 22 — While operating a power paper cutter James R. Roberts, 51, lost all fingers of his left hand.

Man Held in Kidnap Attempt Quizzed in Degnan Killing

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 22 (AP)—Detective Chief John S. Siers said today a 27-year-old man who gave his name as John Wright McDowell, Jr., was being held on a formal charge of attempting to kidnap two 7-year-old girls here and was being questioned about the Jan. 7 mutilation slaying at Chicago of Suzanne Degnan, 6.

Chief Siers said the man told him he was the adopted son of John McDowell, wealthy Peoria, Ill., banker who died about 10 years ago. His foster mother, Mrs. Pearl McDowell, lives in Peoria.

A magistrate held McDowell under $50,000 bond.

Siers said the man was arrested late Wednesday on complaint of the parents of two school girls Gail Oliverly and Patricia Fischer. They told Chief Siers McDowell had stopped them as they walked home from school and asked them to get into the back seat of his car and "look at the two kittens in the box."

Siers said the children declared the man slammed the car door shut and drove off with them. When they protested, they quoted him as saying "shut up before I do something about it," Siers said.

The chief reported the two children escaped and made their way to their homes when McDowell's car crashed through a boulevard stop light and collided with another.

Lynn Couple Given

Days for Contempt

Peter Sardynski, 66, of Summer st., Lynn, and his wife, Helen, were committed to Essex County Jail today for 30 days by Judge J. Frank Donahue in superior court, Salem.

They were found guilty of contempt of court for failing to comply with a court decree, issued last June, directing them to pay $2800 to Mrs. Alexandria Ostrowsky of Chase ave., Lynn, as down payment on a house in accordance with a written contract.

Rioting, Arrests Mark Court Visit To Petiot Home

By LOWELL BENNETT

PARIS, March 22 (INS)—The well known French passion for demonstrations stalked Dr. Marcel Petiot today from the Palais de Justice to his "murder mill."

Results: a near riot, a dozen fist fights, several arrests and temporary loss of the jury.

The hysterical confusion which has marked the trial of the wild-eyed Paris surgeon accused of 26 murders continued as an official court party visited his home on the rue Lesueur, where thousands were milling in the streets and neighbors rented out window space.

Several hundred tried to surge through police lines as defendant, judges, prosecutor, jury and defense counsel approached Petiot's home.

Fists began to ply, one woman fainted, many screamed and the gendarmes had their hands full.

Petiot was gazed at as if by a lynching mob, but it turned out to be a bunch of zealous photographers.

The jury got lost and police spent 20 minutes rounding them up.

The house itself was a shambles inside. Furniture was smashed, floors and walls torn up, carpets ripped, and the dank odor of death hung over the place.

In contrast to the spectators outside, the official visitors toured the rooms in hushed silence. In the garage they found putrid remnants in quicklime littering the floor. Here and there a few human bones could be seen.

Petiot was questioned about various equipment, including the lime-pit and a periscope with which he allegedly watched his victims die in agony.

His swarthy face was blanched and grim, partly because he saw his once luxurious house now a disordered, pillaged wreck.

Jurymen trooped from room to room led by a little man with a huge ring of skeleton keys. The reb-robed judges were quickly covered with plaster and dust and seemed to be almost choking from the foul air.

About 50 photographers with flashbulbs led the eerie parade.

Deer Island Escapee Gets Court Clemency

Clemency was shown in Suffolk Superior Court today to a

Deer Island escapee whose father escorted him back to the house of correction the same day he broke out, Feb. 10.

Judge Jesse W. Morton sentenced Harold Lanoue, 23, of Anabel st., Dorchester, to serve one month concurrently with a present six-month sentence. Lanoue's companion in the break, apprehended the following day, was John Romaine, 21, of Dwight st., South End. He was given four months.

1st Service Command Back in South Boston

Effective Monday, the major functions of the First Service Command will be in operation at the Army Base in South Boston.

It was announced today by Lt. Gen. O. W. Griswold, commanding general.

Since early 1942, headquarters has been located at 808 Commonwealth ave., in the Cadillac Building, when it was removed from the Army Base.

Hub Gets Big Fish Supply

Boston was well supplied with fish again today with the arrival of 230,000 more pounds of cod, quickly sold at 6 cents a pound, well below the winter ceiling of 8½ cents.

The new catches, brought in on the Marjorie Parker and the Hazel B., brought the total arrivals of cod here and at New Bedford and Gloucester to almost 2,000,000 pounds in two days.

At the same time, the captain and crew of the Charlotte M., which for two days had held out for the 8½-cent price for their 90,000 pounds, gave up the fight. They sold for 6 cents. The price break came when the market became flooded and two weeks in advance of the OPA ceiling price drop to 6½ cents, scheduled for April 1.

Salesmanship Called U. S. Need

Salesmanship of high order was described today as the key to bringing about the $150,000,000,000 turnover of goods required for the nation's solvency by Merle Thorpe, director of business development of Cities Service Co. In an address to Boston distributors of that organization at Hotel Kenmore.

"Salesmanship brings the maker and consumer into contact," he said. "Production has always kept even with consumption in this country. Our job today is to plan beyond the production line. Wide-awake dealers realize they must become real salesmen and build for sales and profits in new products and services."

He warned the demand for products lacking in war years would be satisfied in a year or two and dull times would come unless the desire for new things was promoted in the consumer.

Reds "Play Up" Plea U. S. Quit Iceland

Other Girl Boasts Win Her Divorce

Ex-Army Capt. Clarence Proctor Stanley not only boasted to her about his "conquests" in Miami, Amarillo, Tex., and Duluth, Minn., but he also showed her pictures of the girls and bragged about them before her friends, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, Cedar Lane way, Beacon Hill, testified in Suffolk court today where she won a divorce for cruelty.

Mrs. Stanley told Judge Mahoney when she objected to her husband's stories about the other girls he had known he told her he "certainly wouldn't stop it and it was just too bad that I minded it."

She further testified that in Dec. 1943 she joined her husband in Duluth, where he was recruiting WACs. She said she found a number of letters from girls in various parts of the country. The letters, she testified, were "obviously written to a single man."

3 Deny Liquor Charge in Arlington

Three Arlington pharmacists, whose establishments were raided by town and State Police, pleaded innocent in East Cambridge Court today to violating liquor sales laws.

They were Alfred Cavaretta, 32, manager of the Brattle Drug Co., 31 Mass. ave., John C. Kneeland, 42, of Bowdoin st., and Philip Dublin, 39, of Newland rd. Judge Arthur P. Stone ordered each held in $500. He continued the case to April 3.

Parent-Teachers Back Oratory Test

By BERT FORD

With the aim and purpose of her organization the preparation of youth for future American citizenship, along with training in patriotism, Mrs. Harry S. Wright of Elm st., Hingham, president of the Mass. Parent-Teachers Ass'n, endorsed today the 1946 Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest. The subject of this contest, "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States," has inspired high school and college students in 13 cities throughout the United States to study the life of this great military leader, statesman and President. Speaking for both parents and teachers of the future citizens of America—Mrs. Wright said: "As president of the Massachusetts Parent-Teachers Ass'n I am very glad to endorse this contest. I agree heartily with any educational project, the aim of which is to encourage young people to look back as well as ahead. "I am sure those who participate in this oratorical contest will derive much that will be helpful to them as they prepare to take their places in the march of democracy." Endorsement by a state president of the Parent-Teachers Ass'n is of special significance in this Hearst Oratorical Contest, because the original organization was established Feb. 17, 1897, with Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, mother of William Randolph Hearst, as co-founder with Mrs. Alice McLellan Birney. At the time of founding, the organization was known as the Mothers' Congress and from this later grew the nationwide National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Throughout Boston yesterday, intramural contests were being completed in public and parochial schools and colleges. Latest school to announce its contestant for the

People's Chief

The day of Gen. Jackson's inauguration, March 4, 1829, was sunny and balmy. More than 10,000 visitors crowded Washington.

Said Daniel Webster, idol of New England and one of the nation's unforgettable orators: "I never saw such a crowd before. Persons have come 500 miles to see Gen. Jackson and they really seem to think that the country is rescued from dreadful danger."

Jackson's march to the capitol for inauguration ceremonies was a triumphal procession. The United States had a people's President."

Boston finals on April 10 in Faneuil Hall is Boston Trade High School. The winner of its intramural contest is Robert A. Harris, 17, a senior, of South st., Tewksbury, and announcement of his selection as school candidate was made by the school's headmaster, Edward M. McDonough.

No Sweeping in Corners In This Home of Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)

The Fuller house man blew into town today with a hurricane-proof, fireproof, dustproof, termite-proof house.

Maine-born R. Buckminster Fuller, who spent 19 years designing it, gave reporters a press preview of a model of his aluminum and stainless steel circular building which is to carry a $6500 price tag when it goes on sale next year. That includes heating, air-conditioning, indirect lighting, a kitchen range, refrigerator, washing machine, dryer, sink, deep freezer, waste disposal unit—and a dishwasher for husbands especially," he said proudly.

And they can be turned out fast. Meach Aircraft Corp., Wichita, Kans., expects to produce 50,000 houses by the end of 1947, he said.

Fuller said his house could be erected in two days by an eight-man crew.

The house covers 1017 square feet of floor space with a combined living and dining room, two bedrooms, two bathrooms, kitchen and entrance hall.

"And if you don't like the arrangement of rooms, it's simple enough to change the partitions," said Fuller.

The model of his dream house resembled an enormous aluminum biscuitcutter with windows girdling it and a revolving ventilator on top.

Herman Wolf, president of Fuller Houses, Inc., said veterans would have priority on houses, and most would go into planned housing developments.

Wage Board Post Goes To Brighton Lawyer

Charles S. Donovan of Brighton, has been appointed regional attorney of the New England Wage Stabilization Board. It was announced today by Chairman Lester S. Cramer. Donovan has been practicing law in Boston, since 1925 and three years ago was appointed chief enforcement attorney for the New England War Labor Board. In his new post he succeeds William F. Brophy who resigned to return to private law practice.

Cramer also announced the appointment of two World War II veterans to the WSB legal staff. They are Paul Ramsey, Somerville and Stanley Segal of Roxbury.

SO MUCH BEAUTY FOR SO VERY LITTLE

WHY MILLIONS TURN TO CHEWING GUM LAXATIVE

Mild and Pleasant. Works on scientific principle

• Why is Feen-A-Mint in chewing gum form? Science says: Chewing your food helps it do the most good. Similarly, chewing Feen-A-Mint prepares its fine medicine to give the greatest benefit—flows it gently and gradually into digestive system. Mild! Delicious! Candy-Coated! Children take it gladly when needed. When constipation makes you miserable, chew Feen-A-Mint exactly as directed and feel fine again. Contains very medicine many doctors prescribe. 10c, 2c, 5c at drugstores.

Vote to Bring Home Body Of Unknown War II Hero

WASHINGTON, March 22 (INS)—Congress has taken the initial step toward bringing home from a foreign battlefield the remains of an "unknown American" of World War II.

The House military committee, it was disclosed today, has approved a bill by Rep. Price (D., Ill.) authorizing the Secretary of War to inter the remains in Arlington Cemetery.

The measures provides for burial "near or beside" the remains of the unknown American soldier of the first World War.

The committee amended the bill to provide for burial of an "unknown American" rather than "soldier," at the suggestion of War Secretary Patterson.

The secretary urged the change "since it is apparently intended the remains may be a marine, soldier or sailor."

Speedy action was anticipated in the House.

'46 Tire Output of 90 Million Units Seen

CHICAGO, March 22 (AP)—

John L. Collier, president of the B. F. Goodrich Co., today predicted a 1946 tire production of 90 million units—46 per cent above the 1940 output, with an unlimited supply of passenger-car tires by the end of the year.

1600 Lbs. Butter Stolen Here

Butter—approximately 1600 pounds of that rich golden stuff that's so hard to get—was stolen from the Holland Butter Co. on South Market st. early today by some persistent thieves.

The intruder smashed a rear window and a door then came to a double locked door which stopped them for a while. But according to police they went to the roof, broke through a skylight and made their way to the ice chest, breaking the lock on the vault where the butter was stored.

Approximately 50 cartons containing 32 pounds each were taken, company officials estimated.

OPA Approves Menu Economy

WASHINGTON, March 22 (AP)—The nation's restaurants and hotels can serve less bread and salad dressing than usual without trimming prices—if customers raise no objections. OPA authorized this today to help put into effect recommendations of the President's famine emergency committee that Americans cut down on these products so that more wheat and edible oils can be sent abroad.

Meanwhile, the government tried to solve a domestic food problem. The Office of Economic Stabilization, in an attempt to check what one official termed "a pretty serious black market in meat," ordered subsidy payments automatically reduced or in some cases forfeited when packers pay above-ceiling prices for cattle.

OPA said eating places, including railroad dining cars, can reduce portions of wheat and oil products so long as they display a notice that this is being done, and provided they offer "to supply the normal portion to any customer who demands it."

22 Pickets Held In Stamford

STAMFORD, Ct., March 22 (AP)—Pickets and police clashed today before the struck Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co. plant, resulting in the largest number of arrests since outbreak of the strike Nov. 7.

Most of the trouble occurred at the main factory gate where, police said, scores of pickets formed a solid human blockade in attempts to keep management officials from entering.

Police headquarters reported three van loads of pickets had been brought in. The initial group of arrests totaled 22. Among the company officials who had difficulty entering was William R. Hoyt, general manager. A path was broken for him after the picket line had been rushed three times.

CANADA GETS THE FACTS

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT is continuing to move with extreme caution in its disclosure of the espionage system operated in Canada in behalf of Soviet Russia, in obvious deference to the delicate diplomatic situation precipitated by the incident.

The temperate language employed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in laying the disclosures before the Canadian Parliament in line with this policy of caution.

But neither extreme caution nor temperate language has obscured the ESSENTIAL FACTS in the situation.

These essential facts, as the Prime Minister frankly related, are that over a period of "three or four years" agents of the Russian government operated an espionage system in Canada, that Canadian citizens in responsible government positions and with access to highly confidential information appear to have collaborated with the system, and that the military security of the country was consequently placed in grave jeopardy.

The net result, according to Mr. King, was that "a FIFTH COLUMN was being created in Canada by Russian agents and through others" and that "it extended very far."

AMERICAN INTEREST in the situation rests upon HOW FAR it extended.

The American people would be naive indeed to suppose that the Russian quest for military information concerns Canada alone, and Mr. King frees our minds of any illusions we may have had in that respect.

It was not Canada alone that he found infected with suspected spies and traitors, BUT THE UNITED STATES AS WELL.

He reported to President Truman long in advance of the public airing of the situation, considering it a matter of the "utmost concern" to the two countries.

Moreover, the situation in Canada is scarcely more grave and ominous than the parallel situation in the United States—of which there is convincing evidence and to which there is much authoritative testimony.

The U. S. War Department has only recently moved to exclude Communists and other suspected subversive persons from the commissioned ranks of the Army, and from access to confidential information, although the infiltration into the Army of such dangerous elements was admittedly extensive and of long duration.

BUT FEW IF ANY OF THE SUBVERSIONISTS, FELLOW TRAVELERS AND ASSORTED RADICALS HAVE BEEN DEPRIVED OF GOVERNMENTAL EMPLOYMENT.

Many of them and, there is reason to believe, the most notorious and potentially harmful of them have promptly found re-employment in other Federal agencies—PRINCIPALLY AND CONSPICUOUSLY IN THE STATE DEPARTMENT.

In fact, not even the Army is free of them, as Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, intelligence officer for Gen. MacArthur, reports in connection with the dismissal of Army journalists claimed to be lacking in loyalty.

COMMUNISTS are still in key positions in the Army, Gen. Willoughby reveals, and the arrangements for their placement are made in Washington and:

"How and where they are placed is probably by a PRE-ARRANGED PLAN."

So the "Fifth Column" of individuals friendly and loyal to Soviet Russia, regarding which Prime Minister King is so gravely concerned, is surely of the utmost concern to the United States.

THEY ARE AS HIGHLY PLACED IN OUR GOVERNMENT AS IN THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT.

They hold key positions in our armed forces and in our fields of scientific research, as well as in the Canadian armed forces and scientific establishments.

Prime Minister King is ferreting out and REVEALING THE TRUTH about Russian espionage—and American Quislings.

Ah, love, love!
When thou seizest us
We may well say,
Good-bye, prudence!
—JEAN DE LA FONTAINE.

A TEMPORARY LACK of judgment and wisdom is often a sign of true love. When a young woman who claims to be in love has everything under control the extent of her affection is open to question. It is possible she may just be in love with the idea of being married and not intensely enamored of the gentleman in the case. Or so say our Horses & Women experts. Incidentally, a statue of the author of the above verse is in the square at Chateau-Thierry, France. Ask the nearest World War I veteran if he recalls it. . . . Among the services offered by our Horses & Women Department is not that of persuading runaway wives to return to their husbands. However, we have been touched by the appeals of two husbands: one of Detroit, the other of Chicago. Both say that, after a quarrel, their wives ran away from home to parts unknown. These wives, say their sorrowful spouses, are readers of this column. It is therefore suggested it be stated here the husbands are repentant and will consent to most anything if the runaways will return home. So if you are from Detroit or Chicago and have run away from your husband, please be informed he wants you back on your own conditions and that his current theme song is "Just One More Chance."

The other five original Floradora Sextette girls were about the same height. All these girls married millionaires.

PASSING BY: Dan Otten. Famous basketball center. He is 6 feet 11½ inches tall. A team having a center of Dan's height has such an advantage that its opponents should be given a handicap of a few goals. Dick Powell, once a band canary, now a specialist in portraying very tough guys in the films. Is interesting to note that of the other tough guy specialists in films, Jim Cagney was once a chorus man and George Raft, a professional ballroom dancer.

QUERY FROM CLIENT: Q—You refer to Miss Greer Garson's "limbs." Why use the word "limbs" in describing what everybody knows are legs?

A—For dramatic actresses we use "limbs." For musical show actresses we use "legs." That's the best excuse I can think of right now. I hope it will be satisfactory.

QUITE SO: The charming, brilliant, smart-looking Mrs. Elizabeth Graham reprimanded and subsequently dismissed her jockey, Arnold Kirkland, because in the Santa Anita Handicap he didn't get her horse, Knockdown, far out in front in the first stages of the race. This incident recalls the tale of the British jockey who said to a jockey after a losing race: "Why didn't you come out in front at the start as I told you? I repeat, why didn't you come out in front?" The jockey said: "I couldn't come without the horse."

CHAMPION HOUSEKEEPERS: Now Chicago has a super-duper housekeeper who claims she does all the housework in a five-room house in one hour and 15 minutes. She has a husband and two children. As she uses only the initial Z., I don't know her first name. It is probably Zaza. Anyway, maybe we could arrange a match between her and Susie, the super-duper housekeeper of California. It could be billed as a contest for the housekeeping championship of the U. S. A.

IRONING CONTEST: Ever hear of a shirt ironing contest for amateurs? A Maywood, Ill., reader informs me she won such a contest and received a gold collar button as a prize. Seems she should have received something she could use herself. A gold bracelet or an alligator handbag or something similar.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A man named Otto Nevins informs me the wreck of March 24 will be National Donut Week. That's the way Otto spells it, "donut." Very interesting. However, I still like twisted crullers better. . . . A Chicagoan says she has "been happily divorced for three years." Well, that could happen, too. . . . From what section of this land of ours come the best crabs? The question is inspired by the growing popularity in New York City of Dungeness Bay crabs from Puget Sound, Wash.

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE MAJORITY VOTE implies that all those assembled for mutual agreement accept the theory of equality without the slightest regard to the fact of equality.

In a word, the strong and the weak have one vote each, no more, no less.

In the League of Nations, this proved an impediment to the strong who at one time found policy determined by such countries as Spain, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia, whereas responsibility for the enforcement of policy lay with Great Britain, France and the tacit support of the United States.

When the League faced the Manchurian and the Ethiopian issues, it was not the eloquence of Madariaga that mattered but the willingness of Great Britain and the United States to enforce the sanctions of the League.

The United States was willing so far as Manchuria was concerned, but not Great Britain; therefore the League of Nations collapsed as an agency for the enforcement of peace and justice.

UNO FACES this same problem, but more acutely. Here the instrument of the veto is substituted for the majority vote. Any one of the great powers may, at its discretion and even in its own interest, exercise the veto to the detriment of world peace and justice.

From its very first session, UNO exists in the shadow of the veto.

Yet, if there is to be justice, the smallest country must be entitled to its day in court and the unafraid and uncoerced judgment of the world.

The case of Iran is really of no importance to the United States, which has no very vital interests in that country.

But if Iran can be subjugated in time of peace and forced to accept an agreement against her will, or by threat of civil war, or by overt corruption of her officials, the UNO has lost its first battle for existence.

The United States faced precisely that problem at the very beginning of its national life. A federation of loosely associated former colonies of Great Britain, tied together tenuously by the wish for national solidarity without loss of independent sovereignty, the States might have withheld the authority from the federal government essential for effective administration.

The problem was to make the constitution rather than the passing whims of individuals binding.

John Marshall asserted, for the Supreme Court, the rights which established the American constitutional state.

MARBURY VS. MADISON was not over a great issue; it actually involved nothing more than a justice of the peace. Yet, Justice John Marshall used this vehicle to assert high and binding national principle. He said:

"The government of the United States has been emphatically termed a government of laws and not of men. It will certainly cease to deserve this high appellation if the laws furnish no remedy for the violation of a vested legal right."

Then he said:
"That the people have an original right to establish, for their future government, such principles as, in their opinion, shall most conduce to their own happiness is the basis on which the whole American fabric has been erected. The exercise of this original right is a very great exertion; nor can it, nor ought it to, be frequently repeated. The principles, therefore, so established, are deemed fundamental. And as the authority from which they proceed is supreme . . . They are designed to be permanent."

"This original and supreme will organizes the government, and assigns to different departments their respective powers. It may either stop here, or establish certain limits not to be transcended by those departments."

And finally:
"The Constitution is either a superior paramount law, unchangeable by ordinary means, or it is on a level with ordinary legislative acts, and, like other acts, is alterable when the legislature shall please to alter it."

"If the former part of the alternative be true, then a legislative act contrary to the Constitution is not law; if the latter part be true, then written constitutions are absurd attempts . . ."

THE CHARTER of UNO is in the nature of a constitution, by ordinary means unchangeable. It will live or die by the early precedents set for its action.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 22—"If Lana Turner ever gets home," said one of her M-G-M bosses, "we'll tell her she is to play Jinny in 'Cass Timberlane.'" Since "Timberlane" doesn't go into production until after Spencer Tracy finishes "Sea of Grass," M-G-M hasn't very much to worry about.

Spence, of course, plays Sinclair Lewis' Judge Timberlane, unhappy husband of Jinny—and I like the combination—Spence and Lana.

The Turner gal, when she said au revoir to all of us and set out for Rio, Lima, Mexico, Miami and other points south, said: "I'll be back in a month or six weeks."

She left the latter part of January and if she gets back before April we'll all be surprised. I guess she didn't expect to have such a good time. Arthur Hornblow, who knows as well as anyone on the M-G-M lot what Lana can do in the way of acting, held out for her as Jinny.

A HAPPY VOICE over the New York long distance telephone today was that of Jorja Curwright (pronounced like Georgia)—Seymour Nebenzal's secretary. She's the girl who played the bit in "Whistle Stop" and attracted the attention of Hollywood not only for her looks but a cute little publicity job she did on herself! Jorja says she's been having a whirl in the big town where she went to do an appearance with the picture, "I'm coming back," she said, "and I'll be a secretary again until April 3. Then, I become officially an actress. Mr. Nebenzal is giving me a lead in 'The Tempest'—not Shakespeare's 'Tempest'—but based on 'The Brothers Karamazov' by Dostoevski."

Lana Turner

HERE'S THE REASON Ann Dvorak paid $25,000 to get her release from Republic. She wanted to be free to accept the role of Madeleine in "Bel Ami" or "The History of a Scoundrel," if you prefer. The role, and it must be good to be worth $25,000, gives Ann the chance to brush off George Sanders. Now if it were I—I wouldn't pay that much for the privilege of brushing off Mr. Sanders, who is, for my money, one of the most attractive men on the screen.

WHEN GLORIA VANDERBILT left here with her white-haired bridegroom, Leopold Stokowski, it was noised about that she was greatly bored with Hollywood. Certainly she saw none of the old friends she made when she came here to live with her mother. Well, when she returns with her 64-year-old husband, I doubt if any of her friends will be interested in seeing her. Money is a wonderful thing to have, but the respect and love of friends is much more important, and when Gloria made the derogatory statement about her mother—well, she became a stranger to many people who had learned to like her.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Arthur William Brown, the famous artist now visiting here, has a real sense of humor about the Hollywood girls who used to pose for him for $5, among them, Paulette Goddard, Anita Colby, Trudy Marshall—"and glad to get it," laughs Brown. He has been having a reunion with the former models, but he says he bets Lauren

"There's not much chance for advancement. All the executives here are happily married!"

Bacall will not be one of the ladies to wine and dine him. "I turned her down cold—even for five dollars," he chuckled, "because she was too scary!" Another one of Brown's models who has distinguished herself is Edith Gwynn who turns out that well gossip column for one of the trade papers.

ONE OF the most charming men in our town is Felix Ferry, who is invited everywhere and who is extremely popular. Well, Fefe, as he is called, has now left Jules Stein's MCA organization after a very friendly parting, to become vice-president of Famous Artists, the Charles Feldman-Ralph Blum organization. Fefe has had a most interesting career. He was the first to take American girl shows to Europe and it was under his supervision that these shows became such an important part of the famous Monte Carlo. Later he operated a theater in London and his last venture before he became an agent was to open the Monte Carlo Restaurant in New York.

Boston American, Mar. 22—35

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Betty Compton, veteran screen star of the silent days, has been secretly wed to Jack Gall, advertising man, since 1944; Bill Eythe has a very painful back injury and has had to give up all athletics; Carmen Miranda is upset over the radio report that she is suffering from heart trouble. She says it is not true; Mrs. Jack Warner, in Hot Springs, long-distanced Carmen Figueroa, who is visiting here with Nancy de Marigny and Sonora Margarita de Avila Comacho, and arranged for them to go to the Warner house for dinner and to lunch at the studio. Carmen is really having a whirl; Dennis Day and Eugene Board seem to have taken up where they left off when Dennis went into the Navy.

HEAR TELL Herman Hoover of Ciro's and Ruth Chumley of Boston really care; before Mr. Carl Bernadotte and his bride left, N. T. G., who is Swedish himself, gave them a dinner party and then took them on to the Florentine Gardens; Betty Hutton went into a huddle with Edith Head, who will design her the swankiest maternity gowns ever seen in our town. Now that the news is public Betty is planning to take time out when she finishes "Perils of Pauline" 'til after her baby is born; congratulations to Les Peterson, formerly of Howard Strickling's press department at M-G-M. He's been promoted and is now director of radio. He'll be associated with L. K. Silyn, M-G-M executive; Lt. Col. Don the Beachcomber, "Ambassador of Rum and Tahitian Delicacies," now on terminal leave, has been awarded the bronze star; Ann Hlyth and Ross Hunter, who seem to care, a twosome again at Billingsley's. That's all today.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, March 22 — Ticket scalpers, who used to go around quaking at the mere mention of the name of Grace Moore, are now hlt any day now . . . Wall Streeters are abuzz with the rumor that Kaiser and Frazier netted half a million dollars apiece in a stock market coup the other day . . . Carmen Miranda and Val Valentino are a steady duo . . . Two studios in Hollywood are angling for the screen rights to Jack Dempsey's biography, but the price so far is too high—reportedly $500,000 . . . Although young Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski (or should I say Stokowska?) insists her decision to court her mother off without a copper was in no way inspired or influenced by her maestro spouse, friends think differently. Little G. was too filled with affection for Big G. before she became Mrs. Stokowski, they argue, to have changed completely without the assistance of a sudden strong influence.

GOTHAM SCENERY—Grace Moore gracefully skirting a rain puddle at 55th and 5th . . . Irving Berlin reminding about an old hit, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," with Jim Kilgallen in the Cub Room . . . "Lute Song's" Chinese bride, Mary Martin, elbowing past sloop-eyed Noel Toy in Sardi's . . . Greta Garbo striding out of the Ritz Towers at seven a. m. (quelle heure!) for her daily fresh-aiing . . . Jorja Curtwright, the stenog starlet of "Whistle Stop," getting a thrill out of a rumba with Ray Bolger at El Morocco . . . Sports fans causing a racket as they strain for a better glimpse of the long-famous face of Bill Tilden, the tennis ace, at the Tavern-on-the-Green . . . Odette Myrtil, the merry mamselle of "The Red Mill," ooh-la-ing over the French pastry at Henri's.

ALL AROUND TOWN: Barney Ross is looking for a New York spot on which he can build a counterpart of his prosperous Chicago cafe . . . Note to the highbrow Sewanee Review, which ran a critical piece on Margaret Webster's interpretation of Shakespeare called "The Dark Lady of Schubert Alley." There's no 'c' in Schubert, Sewanee, so go to the foot of the class . . . Vital statistic: Leon & Eddie's is the only miter in town boasting three sisters in its chorus. The girls, all redheads, are Loretta, Sheila and Rose De Paul . . . The cab pulling up at Ruby Foo's every evening at the same hour is not for hire. So sorry. One of the restaurant's bookkeepers, Jade Sen, was smart enough to marry a hack-driver—and now she has a ride home every night without giving a single whistle . . . "Leading a dog's life" is just a good cliché gone astray in these parts. The life led by at least one canine couldn't be which accent on the "or more." And the invitees are definitely given to understand they will be tapped again.

Missives purporting to be personal letters from the Postmaster General, but which are really cleverly-disguised forms bearing his signature, have been sent out to all prospective suckers—donors. Operating on such an extensive scale it was almost certain a few of the letters would go wrong.

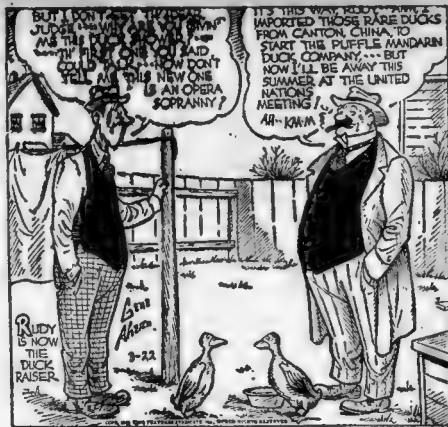

I know of one that did—with a bang. Signed endearingly with the signature of the Postmaster General it came to Mr. Douglas Mode, who is so Republican he won't pass Jackson Square in New York without shutting his eyes.

Mr. Mode was secretary until recently to the very Republican Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan and is now back in his home State working for the cause of Republicanism like an outraged beaver.

Exploded Mr. Mode: "We give a hundred dollars to the Democratic Party! Somebody made a terrible error!"

READING THE PAPERS these days must do something to the average American. He reads in one column that he is being asked to tighten his belt so food can be sent to the needy, in other lands. And in the next column he reads of these same needy fighting murderously against themselves instead of settling down and raising some food.

I suppose it is no business of ours if people in other countries wish to knock each other off, and keep on raising ructions generally. But it doesn't seem sensible to keep them provided more divine. I refer to Bambli, the miniature French poodle belonging to Mrs. Thomas Case. After being photographed all afternoon by one of the nation's leading fashion magazines, Bambli was taken by his mistress and Mrs. Ben Finney to tea at the Coq Rouge.

FOUR COUPLES ambled into the Carnival Monday night, the men carrying their hats and coats over their arms. Proprietor Nicky Blair stopped them at the door of the room and explained that they would have to check their coats and hats. "What do you mean, bud?" asked one of the men. "We'll watch our own hats and coats," Blair tried to explain, but the gent cut him off belligerently: "Don't give us that business about checking. Where we come from we watch our own things." Again Blair attempted to give reasons, but the customer sneered and said: "We're not Johnnie-come-lately, bud—WE READ DOROTHY KILGALLEN!"

with food so they can continue their hell-raising uninterrupted.

I DON'T THINK we should send a dime's worth of food, or assistance of any kind, to any country which is warring, or making warlike gestures. And, if we send any to Russia, we ought to have our heads examined.

The war assets corporation has offered for sale 362,770 pounds of horse and mule shoes, now declared surplus.

Maybe we owe this welcome surplus to that conservation wizard of the late War Production Board—the absolutely inspired genius who suggested wear and tear on horseshoes could be saved by taking the shoes off the horses at night!

COL. HAROLD BECKLEY, ultra-dignified superintendent of the Senate press gallery, was down in Savannah, Ga. recently, handling press arrangements for the Monetary Conference.

One evening Col. Beckley broke away from the delegates and foregathered in a dispensary with some uncouth characters. One of these characters seemed curious about the good colonel's presence in Savannah.

"I am here," replied the colonel, rather stuffily, "with the monetary conference."

The fellow made no reply, but kept on looking at Col. Beckley with an air of amazement. Two hours later, after the colonel had forgotten all about the original query, the fellow said:

"Monetary conference, eh? You know you don't look like a fellow who has anything to do with the church!"

Boston After Dark

THE MEN'S SUIT shortage is about to be relaxed, and the inside story is a tipoff to the times, and the relation of wages to product . . . It gives an insight also to the OPA—at its worst . . . The men's suits and topcoats shortage really traces back to the urbane Sidney Hillman, who has strong influence in the textile workers' unions . . . Long before the General Motors or General Electric's strike threw heavy industry into chaos, Union Leader Hillman quietly won his minions a 22 per cent wage increase.

IN RAMMING THAT RAISE down the gullets of manufacturers, Hillman promised—according to the manufacturers—that he would offset the raises given the members of the Hillman unions . . . The threatened strike did not come to pass, and the 22 per cent raise went into effect, retroactive to December 1. But Sidney packed up and went to London.

THE CHRISTMAS rush was imminent and big stores were on their knees, virtually, to the manufacturers . . . The manufacturers were worrying about that OPA boost in ceiling prices, and when they made no headway in Washington, they refused to ship out the goods which their satisfied employees were turning out in great quantity . . . The manufacturers stuck to their guns . . . Pressure became so great that OPA moved last week and allowed a price increase in clothing . . . Specialists in intergovernment regulation translated the new OPA ruling into sense and price tags, and it developed that the authorized price for men's suits (to name one) was most generous.

ON THE BEST authority—a high-priced expert in the business of supplying the well-dressed men of Boston with suitable suitings and haberdashery—this column has learned that a suit priced at $45 under the former ceiling could have been priced at $48 or $49 and offset both the raise given the Hillman union and the manufacturers' natural disinclination to operate without profits. Under unregulated give and take, supply and demand laws and free competition, that is what would have happened, our expert said.

AS THINGS STAND now—under the new OPA ceiling prices for men's suits—a customer is forced to pay about 15 per cent more, or approximately twice as much, as an increase as would have obtained without the ministrations of Mr. Chester Bowles & Co. . . . Men's suits should be reaching the counters in carload lots quite soon, and in ample time for the Easter trade . . . The manufacturer's naturally, are delighted . . . The jobbers aren't affected directly . . . The retailers—who have to meet the public—are not too happy. But what can they do?

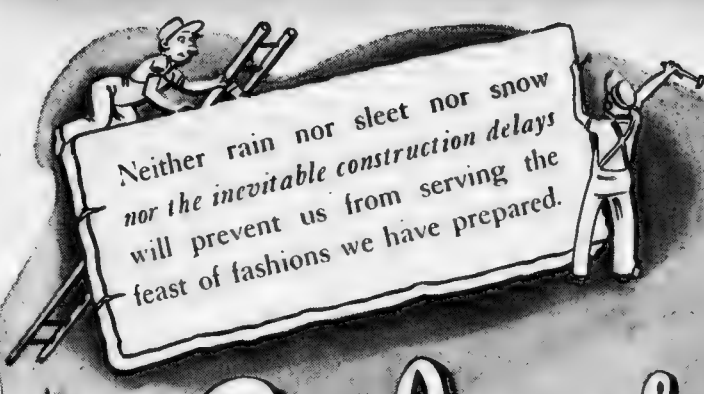

THE NEW HOTEL SOMERSET'S auspicious opening-night dinner took an economic turn in the dedicatory speeches . . . Edward Bryce Bell, managing director of the expensively remade Somerset, proved himself an economist as well as a boniface . . . He was cheering on the subject of possible war with Russia, convinced that nothing of the sort will happen . . . He urged that America look forward and not backward, and hinted that looking backward in his own case conjured up few pleasant thoughts in what should have been the happy task of expending some one and a half million dollars in converting a huge hotel.

WHAT MR. BELL did not say created as profound an impression as what he did . . . His inference seemed to be that government priorities and other regimenting devices were totally rigorous and unpleasant to endure . . . He is convinced that Karl Marx, in thinking up the Communist Manifesto, was spoofing . . . The Marx ideology was never made so even by its founder—to be put in practical use, Mr. Bell inferred . . . Russia was not tuned in, so the Soviet diplomats—except by espionage—will not have access to Mr. Bell's strong assurance that there will be no war . . . Former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was saying over another hook-up that "power is the thermal unit of international politics," and as power must be reinforced by warlike intent to get results, an implied American policy of "no war" might be interpreted as weakness . . . Mr. Bell said, modestly: "If these words were issued by a more important figure they would take no international significance."

GOVERNOR TOBIN was more buoyant about the times . . . He said that the Somerset's assumption of a place in the Boston hotel world would ease the housing shortage for veterans—(well-to-do veterans, he must have had in mind . . . But the Governor saw "subsidized housing" as the solution to the problem . . . When he finished his talk, Governor Tobin tossed the key to the Somerset to the audience . . . The person who caught the key, said His Excellency, would from now on be "the guest of the Somerset."

Baby

infantile paralysis contracted in Washington last August.

The C-47 plane which flew Baby Girl Perkins was manned by a crew of five, piloted by Lt. Col. J. A. Jack and with Maj. H. M. Campbell as navigator.

The maintenance men aboard rigged up a crib, suspended from the plane roof, and Capt. William Arthur Robert Schumann, staff physician at Walter Reed, and Army Nurse Lt. Priscilla Parry kept the child alive during the trip.

Lt. Parry and Dr. Schumann had worked constantly over the infant since birth. It was Dr. Schumann who discovered the cause of the baby choking at 2 p. m. yesterday.

An Army ambulance, equipped with a portable oxygen tent, took the child from Walter Reed Hospital to Bolling Field. On arrival at Logan International Airport, East Boston, at 3:45 a. m., the mercy fliers were met by a similarly-equipped private ambulance and a police escort.

Throughout the flight, the child lay on a tiny white pillow in the makeshift crib. She was clothed in a white dress and blue bunting, and covered with pink and blue blankets, all GI issue.

Using oxygen tanks already in the plane, the doctor and nurse improvised a miniature oxygen tent from a small-sized Army rubber gas mask and rubber hose.

Although the oxygen enabled the tiny patient to breathe easier, the infant actually was kept alive by a glass tube, less than pencil-width, which was inserted into her throat. A thin rubber hose was connected to this tube, and Dr. Schumann and Nurse Parry, working in shifts, siphoned off mucus which constantly threatened fatal choking.

Examined at the hospital by Dr. Daniel Hayes, house physician, the child was found in good condition despite her abnormalities. She was placed in an oxygen tent and hospital officials said Dr. Gross probably would perform the rare operation later today. The infant weighed 5 lbs., 11 ounces at birth.

Word that the child had reached the hospital here safely was relayed to the anxious parents at Walter Reed Hospital by the Boston Evening American. Nurses took the message to both patients, and Lt. Perkins responded: "Thank God! I'm glad they're safe and sound. My wife and I, all of us here, are keeping our fingers crossed. I guess it's just faith from now on."

Nurses at Walter Reed said the baby's father enjoyed his best day at the hospital while awaiting his daughter's birth. He was out of the iron lung for six minutes, longest single stretch since he was admitted eight months ago. Mr. and Mrs. Perkins are natives of Seattle, Wash.

GIs Who Once Spurned Books Now Avid Readers

By WILLA MARTIN

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—Down in a Virginia hamlet three ex-soldiers have established a lending library where no library existed before. In El Paso, Tex., Col. Bob Ely, back from Europe where he was an Army specialist in education and information, has started a book store.

These incidents reflect the fact that, during the war, servicemen received 6,000,000 books and magazines a month from the Special Services division. Many acquired the habit of reading for amusement and instruction, though they previously might have viewed the printed word as a nuisance.

These readers now are coming home to roost and it is a moment of triumph for Ray Trautman, a Lexington, Ky., chap who learned that soldiers could read and did something about it.

Col. Trautman built the Army's wartime library service into a great publishing business by the simple process of giving the men what they wanted.

Some of the men got used to reading magazines without ads and now resent the intrusion of advertisements. Others who looked at or read women's magazines sent abroad for the use of WACS are asking unabashed for Vogue and Harper's Bazaar and Mademoiselle in their home town libraries.

Polls disclosed that fewer than half of the servicemen had had previous access to a library.

Infant's Injury Merely Ketchup

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP)—

Five-month-old Arlene Newler's baby carriage was crushed between an auto and an elevated railway pillar, yet she escaped with no more than a dousing by tomato ketchup.

The child's mother, Hazel, was wheeling the baby near their Bronx home when the car, out of control from a blown tire, wedged the carriage against the pillar.

Red stains on Arlene's clothes and face sent her mother into near-hysterics, but an ambulance surgeon assured her the supposed blood was nothing more than ketchup, a bottle of which was among the groceries Mrs. Newler had placed in the carriage.

Newspage Ideal For National Ads

One of the outstanding advantages of newspapers as a national advertising medium is the flexibility they offer to the national advertiser, a research conducted by Neil H. Borden of Harvard, Malcolm D. Taylor of the University of North Carolina and Howard T. Hovde of the University of Pennsylvania reveals.

A report of the survey has been published in book form under the title, "National Advertising in Newspapers," for the Division of Research of the Harvard

Boston American, Mar. 22—39

Business School, and was made available today by the Harvard University Press.

In the years just ahead, the authors predict, an unprecedented need for newspapers, along with other media, is likely. Newspaper advertising will be needed not only by companies with well established brands, but also by the large number of companies whose manufacturing facilities and experience fit them for entrance into durable goods industries, the report says.

Vasilevsky New Red Staff Chief

MOSCOW, March 22 (AP)—Vasilevsky, 51, was appointed chief of staff of Russia's military forces today in a reorganization move which established a ministry of the armed forces as a supreme body representing a unified command of the land, sea, air and rear forces.

Stalin remained at the head of the armed forces by virtue of his appointment as armed forces minister and commander-in-chief.

Vasilevsky, who was supreme commander of Red armies in the Far East, holds the title of vice-minister.

Col. Gen. Vershinin succeeds Marshal Novikov as chief of the air forces. Marshal Zhukov heads the ground forces. Adm. of the Fleet Kuznetsov, navy, and Gen. of the Army Khrulev, forces of the rear.

Life on the Briny Proposed to Solve Housing Lack

"Home, ahoy?" "Avast there, landlubber, heave to, portside, for a bit of gamming."

Nautical doubletalk? Not on your life. That's the way you may greet neighbors if the proposal of Philip Nichols, chairman of the State Board of Housing, is approved by the Legislature.

Nichols wants the solons to give Bay State communities permission to utilize Liberty ships, carriers and other naval vessels to relieve the housing shortage.

Federal government approval of the project "should be gained with little difficulty," Nichols stated, but he finds State legislators skeptical.

In Boston harbor, lack of piers is the main drawback, but Nichols feels the converted housing craft could be anchored offshore and land-connected by floats.

Experts point out there are 18 escort carriers tied up at the South Boston annex, each with 30 or 40 rooms. Each room has running water.

Housewives would use co-operative kitchens, and between deck space would make ideal playgrounds for children. So say the experts, who add there'd be no know to shovel, on sidewalks to sweep, no lawns to mow.

Mal de mer, maybe? Or fog? Those drawbacks probably will be discussed by the legislators.

Nichols said the proposal, contained in House bill 140, is due for action soon.

Red Cross Due To Reach Goal

With only four days of the campaign remaining, the Greater Boston 1946 Red Cross Fund stands $77,016 shy of the $1,901,150 goal, but Red Cross officials expressed confidence today that the drive will be over the top by Tuesday, closing day of the campaign.

One of the given reasons for the predictions was that all Greater Boston theaters this week began a collection drive among patrons, and the total which movie-goers are expected to contribute is expected to make up the difference between the present figure of $1,824,134 and the objective of $1,901,150.

Swing Skirt Fashion Focus—Brownie

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

MUTED MODERNISM is the fashion keynote this spring. If your clothes have caught the pulse of the changing pace of modern life . . . and reflect the emancipation of silhouette freedom . . . they're right as rain.

Brownie calls it the "billowing silhouette" because it has the look of a lot of fabric . . . whereas it is only her ingenious trick of placing fullness where fullness will do the most good. Like her swing skirt . . . circular and exaggeratedly full, though legally contrived . . . to give the silhouette the swish and sway look and feeling of youthfulness and release from restraint.

Another fashion headline-maker this season is the short-sleeved suit jacket which Brownie designed for Fox-brownie. The sleeve, deeply cuffed, reaches to the middle of the forearm and is slightly bell-shaped. It looks so fresh and vital and new with long gloves. It points up wristlet jewelry . . . an important accessory this spring.

Bold, strong and decisive prints are Brownie's favorites this season. But they must be softened, in keeping with the new feminine look, by being gathered and draped so that the silhouette remains true to the fluid, flowing freedom of contour lines.

(Tomorrow's designer: Molly)

FOR THE average size miss or woman . . . here's a charming navy sheer wool street frock in which bows and flaring skirt . . . prelude to femininity . . . attest the new fashion era look. It is one of those indispensables of any wardrobe with its dressed-up elegance. Full, free-hanging sleeves of bracelet length contrasting with a snug fitting bodice . . . circular skirt with front fullness . . . bows dropped from the shoulder to a strategic length . . . and the buttoned-up throat-hugging neckline all add up to spring, 1946. Even the part navy-banded, white sailor . . . riding high.

CAN CLOTHES express the breath-taking changes of the present era of atomic energy and other startling advances of science? They not only can, they must, or you will not wear them. A designer knows that her feminine public will reject whatever fails to spell "today—Spring, 1946" in line, coloring or mood.

No woman wants to look like a creature from Mars but rather as romantic and dashing as her grandmother did: with an added spark of 1946. To accomplish this I like the look of a lot of fabric in light, airy fullness . . . I call it the billowing silhouette.

I like new suit outlines with contour boleros and short cuffed sleeves. I like these to have built up skirts with moulded midriffs . . . high pointed fronts. I believe important coat dresses have great dash and that peek-a-boo bra dresses are so feminine. In colors, brown should be treated like a basic. Dress it up like black, is my advice. White and black are evening colors. Pink and green are stunning for afternoon or evening. For materials, I am fond of good wool crepe . . . or the intimacy of any fine texture.

Brownie

Designers
Dress
You for Spring

FOR THE MEDIUM and tall type. Prints are bold and conversation-making . . . and this Brownie-designed pure silk skyscraper print sleeveless frock is most provocative. In green and yellow on white with tichu-like flange over the shoulders extended into back cowl drapery . . . it makes for striking fashion. Here billowing fullness is used for a bold print so that the pattern flows into a prismatic burst of color.

Braise, Bake Pork Chops; Frying Toughens Meat

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

IT SEEMS WONDERFUL to all of us to have pork chops back on the table again. These days we're digging out all our favorite recipes using this rich flavored meat—pork chops with savory stuffing, fruit chops cooked in fruit sauce, pork chops buried in scalloped potatoes, pork chops braised to a moist, golden brown.

You'll note that we're talking about braised and baked pork chops—not fried ones. A fried chop is a dried chop. Pork requires thorough cooking to bring out its full flavor, and when pork chops are fried or broiled, the meat is inclined to dry and toughen by the time it's cooked right to the center. Braising (slow cooking in a covered pan) brings out the best in chops, making them moist, tender and rich in flavor.

So that the finished chops will be an attractive golden brown, give them an initial browning on both sides before the long, slow cooking begins. Use a little hot lard or other fat, or if the chops have a good covering of fat, place them in the skillet, fat side down, long enough to cook out enough fat to grease the frying pan. The chops may be floured before browning, if desired. A floured chop browns more easily. After browning the chops well on both sides, season with salt and pepper, and cover with a tight-fitting lid so that the steam created is held in to soften the connective tissue and make the meat tender. If the skillet is a heavy one, it is unnecessary to add even a small amount of liquid. But water, milk, or tomato juice may be added, if desired. For extra seasoning, add to the liquid a small piece of bay leaf, some chopped onion, a few cloves, a sprinkle of garlic salt or a little chili powder.

As a change from the usual bread and celery dressing, we're suggesting stuffing pork chops with an apple, raisin, and onion dressing which blends perfectly with the rich-tasting meat.

FRUIT STUFFED PORK CHOPS

6 loin or rib pork chops
1½ cups day old bread crumbs
¼ cup minced onion
¼ cup finely diced tart apples
¼ cup seedless raisins
½ tsp. salt

Dash of pepper and sage
1 tsp. sugar
2 tbsp. melted margarine

Have pork chops cut 1 to 1½ inches thick. With a sharp knife cut a pocket in each. To make dressing chop raisins and combine with rest of ingredients. Stuff chops with dressing, fasten opening with toothpicks. Flour chops, brown in hot fat and season with salt and pepper. Add a few tablespoons water, cover skillet and cook at simmering temperature for 35 to 40 minutes or until tender. Or bake at 350 deg. F. for 40 minutes. Remove toothpicks before serving.

Leisure in Bath Pays Dividends

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

MORE AND MORE WOMEN are invading the home front to be full time wives. With more time on their hands . . . they're taking as long as they please with their beauty routines. They are learning, too, the importance of a leisurely bath. It pays dividends. Nothing is quite so effective for helping to untie muscular and mental knots.

Now that a woman may pamper herself without a twinge of conscience . . . using bath preparations is fun. And now that we are at peace and somewhat back to normal . . . a famous perfume house has marketed its first postwar package . . . a bottle of spicy bath salts that fills the bathroom with delightfully fragrant aura of roses and old spice the moment it comes in contact with the water.

And once in her tub of lukewarm water . . . the best temperature for most complete relaxation, and who doesn't need it these busy days . . . a woman revels in the luxury of the faintly scented water. She may catch up on her reading at the time, too . . . or relieve tired eyes with purposeful and soothing eye pads and resting her head on the back of the tub. Try indulging yourself this way.

And see how comforting and restful such a simple routine is. For the name of this beautifully-bottled bath salts, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, in enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Should She Give A Dinner Party?

DEAR MRS. BECKMAN:

A dear friend of mine is to be married in two months, and I would like to entertain her in some way. So many showers are being planned for her that I just don't care to give another shower. A cocktail party is also "out." What do you think about my giving a dinner in my home? If I did this, I would have to limit the number of guests to eight. If you approve of the dinner idea, please tell me just who should be invited, and if at such a dinner guests would suppose they should bring gifts.

T. R.

Giving a small dinner in honor of the couple would, of course, be proper and delightful, but having to limit the number of guests to so few (only four, with the engaged couple and you and your husband) would naturally present a problem as to who "the four" should be.

Since giving a dinner is more expensive and more "exclusive" than giving a more general party, my suggestion is that you give a tea in honor of the couple, say from four to seven on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon. The customarily simple, inexpensive tea menu (small sandwiches, cakes, tea and/or coffee) would mean that you could include in your hospitality many guests, girls and men, also members of the couple's families, if you wish. And such a party, quite generally given in honor of a couple, does not mean that guests are expected to bring gifts.

CORNER OF SUMMER

Says Men Not Bashful Enough

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I've just finished reading your column about the "Discouraged Veteran" who was too shy to make friends with girls and I said to myself: "I'd like to meet that bashful boy!" It has been so long since I've seen such a male that I would probably hang on his sleeve like a leech!

I am 22 years old, reasonably good-looking and have an excellent job. I have lots of dates, but sometimes the evenings do not end on such good cheer. The reason? Simply because most men insist on necking at the front door and never let me go in the house.

I am so sick of wolves that I could scream! I'm told that I will be an old maid if I don't throw myself at men. Well, I'd rather be an old maid if I can't find a bashful boy!

DISGUSTED.

Tell that "Discouraged Veteran" not to worry. Some really nice girl is going to get him! And I'll bet you anything you like, "Disgusted," that some really nice boy is going to get you, too, one of these days! They're not all wolves, you know.

Wainwrights Arrive in Hub

Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero commander on Bataan and Corregidor, landed at Logan International airport today with Mrs. Wainwright in a surprise visit.

Mrs. Wainwright disclosed they had come to spend a few days with her aunt, Miss A. J. Holley of Beacon st., Back Bay, and to see an old friend, Miss Elizabeth Dunn, also of Beacon st., now in a Boston hospital.

Gen. Wainwright said he had fully recovered from the effects of his long imprisonment and now commands the 4th Army with headquarters at Camp Houston, Texas. He added he had gained 35 pounds since arriving back in the United States.

Pick of the Crop!

Meat Pirates
Now Out of Hand

WASHINGTON, March 22 (INS)—Wesley Hardenberg, president of the American Meat Institute, warned today the black market is "out of hand and apparently the Office of Price Administration is wholly unable to check it."

Hardenberg, before the House Banking Committee, asserted legitimate packers are being forced to shut down or curtail operations.

He said price control as applied to livestock and meats is unworkable.

Smart Set Dancing With Hubby

By BETTY ALDEN

ALTHOUGH MOST NEW YEAR'S resolutions get broken sooner or later, we know of one that is definitely being kept. It is vivacious Mrs. Paul Breakell's resolve to go dancing with her husband as often as possible after his return from serving in the British Navy. Now that he has arrived they are having many dancing dates together and the other evening made a foursome with Barbara Adams and Mary DuBarry at the Copley Plaza Oval Room.

To celebrate her husband's return to civilian life Mrs. Breakell, the former Jackie Allen, wore a corsage of white orchids on her gay turquoise and fuchsia print. Barbie chose a trim navy blue ensemble with a diamond clip at the V neckline.

Helen Mitchell and her sister Anne took time out from Vincent rehearsals for a double date with Ensign Alfred Lee and Parisian Marc Giron. Helen in a striking navy dress with the new cartridge pleated skirt and a fetching half hat trimmed with white roses and white paillettes. Anne's water blue and chalk flowered print had wide black velvet girdle.

In from Chestnut Hill to hear John Boles were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lincoln Pierce, the vivacious Markie as modish as ever in French blue with matching gloves and feathered fez. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dorsey Hobbs of Hingham joined friends for the supper show and post deb Frances Hamlin was escorted by an Army officer as she walked in a black dress with emerald green inserts in the skirt.

FOR VINCENT CLUB members too busy with families or careers to attend the daily rehearsals required of the singing and dancing members of the cast, half the fun of the annual show is working out front as waitresses, flower vendors and program girls.

When this year's show, "Tonight at 8:30," goes on the boards at N. E. Mutual Hall, April 3-6, the audience will be seated cabaret style at small tables and order their refreshments from an attractive bevy of waitresses under the direction of Mrs. Nelson Aldrich. Her assistants will include her sister-in-law Mrs. George Aldrich, Mrs. C. Campbell Patterson, Mrs. Harold Suttle, Mrs. William F. Alles, Judith Beale, Mrs. Stearns Poor, Mrs. Fellows Davis, Mrs. H. Holton Wood, Mrs. William J. Shearer 3d, Mrs. J. Craig Huff, Mrs. Stacey Holmes, Geneva Hobbs, Mrs. William A. Burnham Jr., Mrs. William B. Long Jr., and Mrs. G. Lincoln Dow Jr.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Glimpsed debutantes Mary Kay Arnold and Joan Whitney lunching together between Vincent rehearsals; Mrs. William Augustine of Chestnut Hill, in a gray wool dress with antique silver puppy lapel pins and black and white checked tweed coat, purchasing some candy after lunch with a friend; Mary Otis shopping on Boylston st., in a becoming green and gray checked wool outfit and Mrs. Francis Hart, socialite actress-model, looking like a fashion plate in an olive green suit and matching cossack hat trimmed with a cluster of jewels.

Virginia Ruth Haigh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Haigh of Cambridge became the bride of Ralph Peter Reckis, West Roxbury, at a candlelight service March 17 in Prospect Congregational Church, Cambridge. Rev. William McNair officiated.

The bride wore an ivory satin gown with seed pearl embroidery and fingertip tulle veil. Edna M. Reckis, sister of the groom, was maid of honor wearing powder blue chiffon. The bridesmaids, in gowns of salmon pink, were Dorothy Benker, Stoneham, and Thelma Hunson of Cambridge. Ens. Howard John Reckis was best man and the ushers were Robert V. Olsen and Grover Douglas Haigh.

The bridegroom, a former chief storekeeper, was recently discharged from the Naval Reserve.

Bob as couple of broken-down vaudeville bums on a rat-race to Skagway and a gold mine claim that rightfully belongs to Miss Lamour. Bing is a smoothie, a suave city slicker. Bob is a bumbling chicken-heart. They are as inseparable as the Smith Brothers, and their mutual verbal slugging is now just about as familiar as the coughdrop behind their famous twin whiskers.

Hope, in an ice-cream suit and straw skimmer, is New York-bound as the picture opens. The more adventurous Crosby is all for joining the Alaskan gold-rush.

And so, they take the boat for Skagway, with a "hot" secret map to a goldmine as their passport to riches. Not since Charlie Chaplin's howling Hollywood-made trek has the Klondike been shaken by such klowning, nor slapstick had such a terrific workout.

Mistaken for desperadoes, the poor hams are sandwiched between two killer-gangs. Their lurid adventures constitute a terrific burlesque of stout-hearted adventure pictures and the film business generally.

Anything can and does happen on the "Road to Utopia" set. Hope, when he finally gets the gal, puts

The biggest little comedian on stage, screen and radio, whose footlighted Hatfield-McCoy battling has become a classic in show business, is presently heading the best stage show the RKO Boston has had in ages. Claire, tap-dance their way in

He would be, of course, Bert Wheeler, who once baited Broadway's now famous stage drunkard, Frank Fay, into taking a lethal sock on the jaw that stayed in the act through the week at New York's old Palace.

Wheeler is currently jousting with Artie Rice, who is doing the socking but verbally. The wonderfully low comedian, top-hatted and otherwise sartorially resplend, is easy as an old shoe with the charmed customers. He starts telling a joke and they are, to lift an old cliché, all ears. Again and again his stooge kills it.

Doubling as master of ceremonies, Wheeler is on and off stage with Finnegan regularity. But he real'y enjoys himself, it is plain to see, when he joins up with that star warbler of the radio, Connie Haines.

Another star act. Lane and Claire, tap-dance their way in all-around applause. They are a slick team.

Shorty Sherock's band, making its initial local appearance, made a convert of this department because they mute their brasses and would soothe, not shatter, your ear-drums. Sherock's trumpet solo, "Sunnyside of the Street," is well worth your ear-bending.

David Colby and Elayne Trent, band vocalists, are worthy of the good company they are keeping on the RKO Boston stage this week. He sings "Day by Day" and "Oh, What It Seemed To Be" excellently.

The accompanying screen fare, "Tarzan and the Leopard Woman," teams the mouth-watering Brenda Forbes and Acquanetta with the Body Beautiful, otherwise Johnny "Tarzan" Weissmuller. P. 11

N. E. Outlook 'Bright,' But-

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 22 (AP)—New England's business outlook is brighter than it has been for many peace-time years, according to Frederick S. Blackall, Jr., president of the New England Council.

The Woonsocket, R. I., manufacturer said, however, production "in almost every field is lagging seriously" due to "conditions which either have their source beyond our borders or are quite beyond our control."

"With the biggest backlog of orders in history, manufacturers find themselves unable to secure sorely needed materials which our mines, smelters and mills would be turning out in abundance if the proven principles of production under the profit motive were substituted for political poppycock and pinkish policies."

No Monte Carlo, But 4 Draw Fines

Michael Marone, Woodville st., Roxbury, and four friends were in an Oswego st., South Bend, apartment at 2 a. m. a week ago just passing the time of day. One of the group was out walking his dog and just happened to drop in.

At least that was the defense today when Marone pleaded not guilty to maintaining a gaming nuisance in municipal court.

Police Lt. Chester Henchey testified he found five pairs of dice, a covered dice table and a table rake, as well as a pot-bellied stove and a pile of coal on the floor. "It wasn't exactly any Monte Carlo," commented Judge Adlow. "Yet there seems to be plenty of evidence. Marone, I fine you $100 and sentence you to one month in the House of Correction."

Marone appealed and was held in $300 bail, but his companions paid a $10 fine for being present at gaming. They were, Richard Maloot, Garland st., Walter Buck, Lovering st. and Fred Kalil, Shawmut ave., all South End, and Alzo Marini, Calumet st., Roxbury.

ELECTRICIANS CHOOSE AFL

Electrical workers at Sylvania Electrical Products Co., Ipswich, voted, 220-149, to have the American Federation of Labor as their bargaining agent instead of the CIO, it was disclosed today.

Club Rifled Twice On Same Night

Thieves early today made two calls at the Inman Social Club, Austin st., Cambridge, delaying their second call until after police had completed an investigation of the first break.

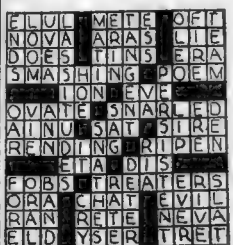

At 2:30 a. m. police discovered a window had been broken to admit an intruder who took $10 from the juke box and made off with some liquor.

At 5:30 a. m. police found the club had been broken into again. This time cigars and cigarettes were taken. The second thief, however, left a bloody fingerprint on a door knob.

West Point Debaters Here for 3 Tests

West Point's debating team invaded Boston today for a series of verbal battles at Harvard, Boston University and M. I. T. The cadets meet B. U. at the School of Education, Exeter st., Back Bay, at 11 a. m. tomorrow, taking the affirmative side of the proposition, "Resolved: That the U. S. should adopt universal military training as a permanent peacetime policy."

Compulsory arbitration of labor disputes will be argued with Harvard at 2 tomorrow afternoon. At the same hour, two other cadets meet M. I. T. on the same question.

Spy-Crazy Russians Hold World Espionage Carnival

By AUSTEN LAKE

EUROPE IS HOLDING the greatest spy festival in history. You can't turn around anywhere on the continent without stumbling over Russians, some in uniform and some in civvies, and every one devoted to ferreting out scraps of information to pipe back to Moscow.

Austen Lake

The American press camp in the Fabre castle at Stein, just outside Nuernberg, is an example. When I left less than two weeks ago there were approximately 100 Allied news and camera men quartered there, covering the trial of the Nazi war criminals. Exactly 39 were Russians, despite only two Soviet papers being represented (Pravda and Izvestia). And that did not include unknown numbers of Russian secretaries, chauffeurs and flunkies attached to the Soviet press delegation.

Yet at no time did I notice more than three Russians sitting down to typewriters in the press rooms at Nuernberg's Palace of Justice or the third floor workshop in the castle. The rest just hung around wherever other Allied press men huddled—at the bar, in the restaurants, in the libraries or the hallway forums at the courthouse. Nobody seemed to know what they were doing or what purpose they served. But they were all over the place like termites in a rotten log.

Spys on Each Other

WHAT THERE WAS TO SPY upon was a mystery to me. "O they're just spy-crazy," explained a veteran U. S. correspondent. "They're afraid they might miss a trick. Some of them are here to spy on each other—the most suspicious people on earth."

The Excelsior Hotel in Rome was another fascinating fester spot of espionage. During the Vatican Consistory the big hotel, formerly one of the top tourist taverns of Europe, was swarmed with American visitors ranging from star spangled Mark Clark and Prosecutor Robert Jackson down to the usual newsmen and resident soldiers.

The hotel waiters, cleaners, hall-men, valets and attendants were from the international flotam of Europe, some Poles, some Slavs, some indeterminates—as sly-eyed and obsequious and furtive a lot of characters as was ever assembled under one roof.

A U. S. Army intelligence officer whom I had known during the war told me, "We know many of these people are in the pay of Russia. But we'd rather let them stay where we can keep an eye on them than chase 'em out and get a new batch. They're minor league stuff anyway. They rarely give the Russians anything that can't be read in any daily paper."

There was a dark aquiline featured young woman who passed through the scene, an amiable personality with a vast capacity for friendship and a knowledge of half a dozen languages, including English which she spoke with a faint slur. She was something a Hollywood scenarist might have dreamed up in a class B picture. She said she was a native New Yorker and had taught languages at Yale—the first time I ever heard of the New Haven institution employing women instructors and especially such an exotic type sure to distract the students' minds from their lessons.

The G-2 captain grinned. "We have an interesting dossier on her," he said noncommittally. "She's a typical internationalist for hire to any government willing to pay. Actually she has an American passport."

Scene at the Russ Embassy

ROME. STANDING AS IT does at the cross roads of middle-Europe is the capital of European intrigue. The agless city is infested with unemployed nobility and uprooted aristocracy from the Slav states—people of all ages and both sexes who sought sanctuary in Italy and now live by means invisible to the naked eye.

They came in droves to the many embassy luncheons, receptions and cocktail parties during the two weeks of the Consistory, some by invitation and some who just crashed the gate for free handouts of food and drink. I saw the same faces at all the functions, down-at-the-heel aristocracy trying to keep up some semblance of old noble forms and peering around with a hauteur that belied their eager wolfing of plates of pastry, endives, canapés and wafer thin sandwiches.

The reception (to nobody in particular) at the Russian embassy was most fascinating—a mixed aggregation of human oddities like lunch hour on Paramount's movie lot, people who babbled in many strange tongues and sought to hide their shiny seams under an arch-eyed dignity. There was a wistful recollection about them as they soaked up the grandeur and glitter of the Russian embassy interior with its crystal chandeliers, massive murals, deep carpets and starched flunkies with trays of caviar and vodka—something that recalled an ample society they had once known but would know no more.

"Almost all of them have a price tag," said the captain with grim humor. "They try to catch on with some of our many bureaus, like NKRA or Military Government or those alphabetical societies we set up over there for everything from bunions to clambakes. Then as a rule they suddenly begin to live beyond their modest salaries and wear good clothes and show up at the more expensive restaurants. We watch 'em pretty close and pull the string on 'em if they get too close to important information sources."

So again I asked, "What is there to spy on?" And he laughed. "As a rule very little of anything just that the Russians have a mania for spying on the most trivial details. It's not that they're spying here alone—but everywhere including America. They've got the largest spy staff and payroll in the world. I'll bet Moscow knows what you had for breakfast."

NE Catholic Fives Open Title Tourney at Arena

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Schoolboy basketball will close the shutters on the winter season over the week-end with the New England Catholic Championship to be settled at the Arena in three sessions—opening tonight with four games starting at 6 p. m. There'll be four more contests tomorrow night—two consolation—and three Sunday afternoon when Archbishop Richard J. Cushing will present his trophy to the titlists.

Because of the fact that there'll be a quartet of local representatives in the race—and all in the same bracketing—fans will be assured of a Greater Boston team in the finals. But, at the same time, this arrangement might bring about the elimination of one of the top seeded teams tonight when De La Salle of Newport, R. I., tangles with Sacred Heart of Holyoke.

De La Salle, defending champion, roared through to the semifinal round of Class A competition in its home state and although Coach Leo Conerton has only one veteran back from last year's crown-holders, the team must rate, at worst, co-favoritism. Capt. Jerry Lynch will be just the type of player to steady the tourney newcomers Pete Peterson, George Bryer, Roy McPoland and Bill O'Connor, 6-2 inch center.

Coach Frank Higgins' Holyoke outfit fits the favor of the Eastern Carnival fans with the revelation that the Sacred Heart crew had toppled Mass Westfield on its home courts. The Higgins Co. bowed out of the tourney last year in the semi-finals against De La Salle but Coach Higgins is hopeful that his new club of Frankie O'Neill, top scorer of the team, Johnny Brassili, Johnnie Maloney, Joe Moore and Jack Flynn will come through. O'Neill and Maloney are 6-footers.

Among the local clubs, Mission High of Roxbury and St. Mary's of Waltham are favored to qualify for the semi-finals.

Mission, facing Central Catholic of Lawrence, chalked up a 17-1 record in the Southern Division of the Catholic League, but dropped seven decisions outside of its circuit. The Roxbury entry backed down from nothing over the course of the campaign and Coach Fred Daly's fate will depend on how well sophs George Brawley and John Power hold up in the offensive with Jim Power, Bill O'Rourke and Jim Callanan. St. Mary's of Waltham, stepping up against St. Mary's of Lynn, has the balance to capture the bunting.

Nanny's Infield Future at Stake

By BILL GRIMES

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 22—Over the week-end, the Braves Varsity will engage the Giants in a home-and-home series, playing here tomorrow and at Miami on Sunday. Meanwhile, the Jayvees will play two with the A's at West Palm Beach.

Connie Praises Arlington Boy

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 22—Al Javery did not feel any ill-effects from his six innings against the A's.

F. McCormick

He was very chipper yesterday, and is confident he'll be a winning pitcher for the Braves. . . The venerable Connie Mack, who is still a remarkably fine judge of baseball talent, predicts a brilliant future for Joe Coleman of Arlington, who is pitching for the A's. . . Bob Detweiler had all of the earmarks of the best looking third baseman in the Braves camp against the A's. He was completely relaxed at all times, accepted five chances, all ground balls, and connected with a line drive single and drew a walk.

Frank McCormick, first sacker purchased by the Phillies from the Reds, may undergo an operation for a herniated disc between his fourth and fifth vertebrae.

Bill Jurgens, who was given his unconditional release, is down. He said that he never received such a shock as when he was told the bad news. . . He's willing to go down to an AA league, and Billy Southworth is trying to land him a job. . . Although all of the Braves were invited to participate in the sliding drill only Sibby Sisti, Phil Masi, Bob Detweiler, Hughie Poland, "Whitey" Wietmann, Nanny Fernandez, Lou Tost, Ben Cardoni and Jimmie Wallace accepted. . . Southworth believes Buddy Gump can be developed into an outfielder. He has given up on the former Navy flyer as a first or third baseman.

Larkin-Moran 'Go' on WCOP Tonight

Two crack welters who are seeking title opportunities, Tippy Larkin (above) of Garfield, N. J., and Mexico's Nick Moran, tangle in a ten-round return headliner at Madison Square Garden tonight. When these two met last fall, they fought a terrific battle that had Madison Square Garden in an uproar. At the end of ten blistering rounds, the Garfield Gunner squeezed through with the decision only by virtue of the lead he had gained in the opening stanzas of the fight.

Larkin and the Mexican Ma-rauder represent different schools of pugilism. Crafty Larkin is a master boxer and a sharp, clean puncher. Moran relies mainly on aggressiveness and constant belting.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WCOP (1150 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

And remember men—LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette's Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!

Bruins Discover Wings Tough In 2d Series Go

By FRED HOEY

Art Ross' Bruins have something to think about as they leave today for Detroit where the third and fourth games of the Class B matches in the Stanley Cup series will be played. Having won the opener here Tuesday night in such a manner that their followers thought they were a cinch to sweep the series, the Bruins came apart, or at least their luck ran out, last night and were blanked, 3-0 by Jack Adams' Red Wings. It's now a game for each.

The Wings did some grand skating last night while the Bruins skated nowhere. Passes landed on Detroit sticks while passes missed Bruin sticks. All the breaks of hockey, good one night, terrible the next.

From our post Milt Schmidt should have scored at least three goals and assisted in two others. But Lady Luck was looking the other way and Schmidt got nothing for his efforts.

As the game developed, it became a bit rugged. Some stiff checks were handed out, but most of them were within the rules. It is playoff time and the boys have to give and take.

The Bruins received their first tough break at 3:20 of the first period when Murray Henderson and Pat Egan were caught down the ice. Youngster Pat Lundy, just up from Saskatoon, went in with ease and scored the first Detroit goal. In this play, Lundy suffered a bad shoulder injury and may be done for the series.

Two minutes later, Bobby Bauer fed to Schmidt but he missed the goal.

The second Detroit goal had a bit of luck attached to it. Jerry Couture took a shovel swing at the rubber lying 20 feet in front of the net. The puck landed on the mouth of the net. It was a question which team would reach it first. Jim Conacher snapped it in for the Wings' second goal.

In the final minutes of play, the Bruins, in a desperate state, put the pressure on and were caught up thrice by Watson and Armstrong. In mid-rink, Armstrong took a pass from Watson and scored the final goal.

Canadiens Belt Hawks In Free-for-All Battle

MONTREAL, March 22 (INS)—The Montreal Canadiens scored their second straight victory over the Chicago Blackhawks by a 5 to 1 score in the Stanley Cup play-offs.

It was a roughly fought game featured by a free-for-all near the end of the first period involving Joe Cooper, of Chicago, and Murph Chamberlain and Maurice Richard, of Montreal.

The fight ended with Richard getting a major and a 10-minute misconduct penalty as did Cooper and Bill Mariucci.

Bob Filion, Jim Peters, (twice) Maurice Richard and Ken Mosdell scored for the Canadiens while Clint Smith tallied for the Hawks.

Only Falcons Close to Pics

Olympics play the Washington Lions at the Garden tomorrow evening in another of the play-offs games of the Eastern League race. They trek to New York right after the contest for a Sunday tilt with the Ebers in Madison Square Garden.

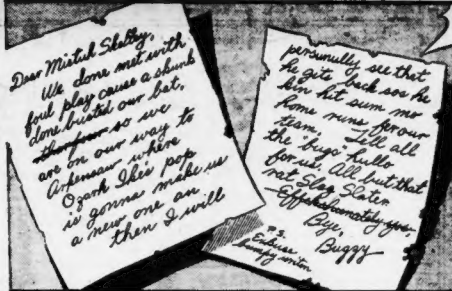

Right now, the play-offs appear to be a duel between the Pies and the Philadelphia Falcons. Both clubs have played nine games and Olympics are one game in front with 12 points to the Falcons 11.

Ferriss Enjoyed 'Home-Coming Day'

By HERB FINNEGAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 22—Dave Ferriss took it easy today as his Sox pitching partner, Tex Hughson, faced Cleveland here, but his memory raced back 24 hours to

'Home-coming Day' with the Louisville Colonels at Ft. Myers.

"Mah Heavens," smiled the 21-game winner of '45 who trained last spring with the Colonels. "For a time I didn't know whether I was back in college, in the Army or with Greensboro in the Piedmont League.

First off, he met his old Mississippi State batterymate, Bill Glenn, who is one of the 82 players in the Colonels' camp. Then he said "Howdy" to Mars "Pete" Lewis, former Alabama pitcher with whom Ferriss had many a college mound duel.

Then came his old '42 teammates at Greensboro, the only pro experience Ferriss had before joining the Sox. There were his old roomie, Earl Toolson, a pitcher with a real "jug"; Joe Ostrowski, 22-game winner now a Louisville mainstay; Whitey Gluchowski, 18-game winner, and Roger Wright, a fourth hurler.

Dave went into the Army Air Force at the close of the '42 season. Stationed at Miami his first batterymate was Chet Ziemba. Later Ziemba played with Howie Pollet and Enos Slaughter of the Cards at Randolph Field. Ferriss was so impressed with the young receiver he recommended him to the Sox last winter and Ziemba will stick with the Colonels. ("Thanks, 'Boo") he said.

Then there were catcher Matt Batts, a team-mate of Ferriss at Randolph, and Pete Layden, All-America quarterback at U. of Texas who played in the backfield at Randolph with Bill Dudley of the Steelers. Layden is playing the outfield for the Colonels and looks like a fine prospect. ("I might choose pro football though," he weakened, "those bonuses are mighty attractive.")

And, so it went. Seemed he had met everybody on the club somewhere along the line. He shook so many ducks he hardly had time to warm up.

But did he get belted all over the lot? Not quite. He gave up three hits as he blanked the Colonels for six frames, running his scoreless inning string to 10. In addition he made two of the Sox nine hits. A rather memorable "Home-Coming."

SOX 6, COLONELS 0 was the final score. . . . Andres had his first good day since he joined the club. He made several nice plays at third and hit the ball harshly, though making only one hit. . . . Williams and DiMag had triples, York was hitless. . . . Culby made two sparkling catches in right field but Pesky continues to be the best all-round player on the club, fielding, hitting, running and spirit. His play over second on Gerken in the eighth was the best of the day.

OK'S SUNDAY BOWLING

The Senate has approved Sunday bowling with the exception of Easter and Christmas when it falls on a Sunday. The bill was then sent to the House of Representatives.

Fly-Tying Thrills Disabled Veterans

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Talk about ardent anglers! One of the most enthusiastic groups we have ever seen was that composed entirely of disabled and convalescent servicemen which gathered in the solarium of Ward 15, at the Chelsea Naval Hospital last evening, where Paul Provandie and Arthur Stansfield, of the Mass. Fish and Game Ass'n, inaugurated a unique series of programs.

In co-operation with the American Theater Wing, these sportsmen gave demonstrations in the art of tying flies, while the pajama-clad Isaac Walton watched in rapture, their eyes shining as the experts performed magic with colored threads, feathers, and vises. They produced every pattern imaginable, including wet and dry streamers, bass flies and nymphs.

Interest in fishing among these servicemen has been stimulated recently by one of their comrades, 19-year-old Chet Hobbs, who hails from Careyville. This lad saw action at Guam, and started to tie flies for a hobby five years ago. He is a member of the Franklin Rod and Gun Club, eager to wot a line again in Uncas Pond.

So interested in fly-tying is Phil Schreyer of Irvington, N. J., that he hopes to open his own tackle shop when he returns to civilian life. "I have practiced plenty lately," he told us, "and now I can tie three or four patterns in an hour. My favorite fishing spot is Sebago Lake, Me."

His pal, Charles Poderzay, from Schoygan, Wis., is also trying his hand at this fascinating pastime.

but lacks the necessary materials.

Among the other boys present were Bill Dimick of Milford, Me., a graduate of the University of Maine, who intends to study wildlife conservation upon receiving his discharge; Dick Ring, Medford, Ore.; Harvey Paradis, Norwich, Ct.; and Ira Baker of Charlestown, W. Va. . . . A bed patient, Herbert Boye, Medford, spends most of his waking hours tying flies!

ANGLING ANGLES: Some excellent fishing films were shown to the men in the hospital, as well. . . . One year ago last night, Paul Provandie, chairman of the MFGA Inland Fishing Committee, shipped from Leyte to Okinawa, when his ship was bombed, but Paul escaped with a dent in his helmet. . . . The idea for these programs was conceived by Ursula O'Hare, director of the Hospital Commission for the American Theater Wing.

Larkin Favored to Beat Mexican Boxer

NEW YORK, March 22 (AP).—Tippy Larkin, Garfield, N. J. welterweight, again is favored to defeat Nick Moran of Mexico City when they meet tonight in a return 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden. Larkin won a close decision in their first meeting last Nov. 16.

Doerr Injures Leg Running Out Triple

By JOE CASHMAN

SARASOTA, Fla., March 22—The job of paring the Red Sox down has begun. First to go is infielder Jack Tobin, who saw regular service at third base the greater part of last season. "Tobe" is being sent to the New Orleans farm under option. Several more Croninmen will be let out before camp is broken here April 12.

This announcement was made just before the Sox took the field for their third, final and "rubber" game with Cleveland this afternoon. Tex Hughson rested since last Sunday, started on the Sox slab. The Varsity cast furnished the support.

Bobby Doerr pulled a muscle in his left leg in running out a triple he hit off Joe Lefty Krakausas in the first inning of this game. He left the game immediately to be treated by trainer Win Green, Ben Steiner replacing him.

Roxbury's Eddie Pellagrini, the leading candidate for the Sox third base post until he sprained a muscle in his side, was batted in uniform today, for the first time in a week. Guessing is that Pelly will start the season at the far turn.
